Early '73 Idaho gas deliveries rise

By GEORGE WILEY
and RICHARD HIGH
Times-News Writers

TWIN FALLS — Despite cries of a gasoline shortage, deliveries of gasoline into Idaho during the first quarter of this year were substantially above the same period in 1972.

According to Idaho State Tax Commission figures, the movement of gasoline into the state from all sources during the first three months of 1973 was 5.1 per cent above the same period a year earlier.

Curiously, however, gasoline shipments into Twin Falls County during the quarter showed no significant increase which may give some justification for local complaints of a shortage.

However, other Magic Valley counties showed average increase of 5.1 per cent in gas shipments, the same percent increase as the state average.

According to state tax commission figures, there were 103.4 million gallons of gasoline shipped into Idaho by truck and pipeline during the first quarter of 1973 compared to 100.3 million gallons shipped in during the same period of 1972.

Shipments into Twin Falls County during the first quarter of 1973 totalled 7.24 million gallons, compared with 7.22 a year earlier.

The state tax commission records all shipments into the state, listing the source and destination of shipments. Once delivered, subsequent sales or transfers are not recorded.

The state figures for the first quarter appeared to contradict oil industry cries of a gasoline shortage in Idaho at that time. Some dealers have said they had been told by their suppliers that the shortage would require the dealers to sell no more gas than in the previous year. Other stations have been held to a reduction of their gas purchases the previous year. In several cases dealers had been entirely cut off from their usual gasoline sources.

In addition, figures released for December and January showed shipments then were much higher than during the same months a year earlier.

This apparently raised questions about oil industry claims that extremely cold weather in December had forced refineries to cut production of gasoline and switch instead to production of heating oil, resulting in reduced shipments in December and January.

The state tax commission figures show that shipments into Idaho during those two months this winter were 13.7 per cent greater than during the same months a year earlier. A total of 71.2 million gallons was shipped this year, compared to 62.7 million gallons the previous December and January.

The fact that gas shipments during the first quarter was higher than a year earlier may not show that there is no shortage — particularly if usage has increased more than the increase in shipments.

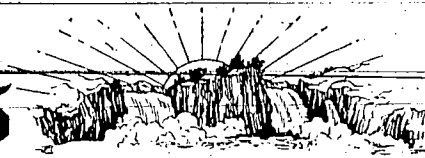

Idaho Petroleum Council figures released last week said gas usage had grown by more than seven percent during 1972. Should that rate of increased consumption continue into 1973 there could be a slight shortage.

No figures were available on aggregate gasoline sales during the first quarter of this year, leaving the possible over-demand a matter of speculation.

Some of the largest first-quarter increases in shipments to the Magic Valley went to Jerome and Gooding counties. Jerome received 18.4 per cent more gas than a year earlier, while Gooding County received 14.6 per cent more.

TF mart damaged by fire

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Swensen's Magic Market, 628 Main Ave. S., was extensively damaged in a spectacular fire late Saturday night.

Bystanders gaped as flames from the back of the building shot above the tops of nearby trees.

A billow of black smoke rose and drifted to the east, marking the fire from blocks away.

Four engines from both Twin Falls stations responded to the alarm, which came at 9:53 p.m.

All firemen were called to duty, some remaining on standby at the main station while others fought the fire.

Within minutes after firemen arrived at the scene, the flames were reduced to billows of steaming char.

The crowd drifted away as policemen moved in to clear the area.

Store owner M. S. Swensen said he had just closed the store and was in the upstairs office when he saw the fire from the office window.

While Swensen began to round up papers, cash and receipts, the heat from the blaze caused the office windows to burst inward and flames in, burning Swensen slightly on the left arm. There were no other injuries.

Swensen said later that he felt sure the blaze was triggered by an arsonist, but fire department Capt. James Poulton said the cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Swensen said he could not estimate the damage to the store. He said the store itself was not damaged by flames but did receive extensive smoke and water damage.

Swensen said the store was insured, but added, "you always come out losers" on insurance. He said he had no insurance to cover the interruption of his business.

Captain Poulton said all the roof on the back of the structure and two upper rooms were destroyed by the fire.

He said no firemen were injured or suffered smoke inhalation, but several firemen were clearly exhausted.

"There is terrific exertion when fighting a fire like this," Poulton said.

He said there was danger of the fire spreading to adjoining buildings, but it was brought under control before this happened.

There was a power outage in the immediate area as Idaho Power Co. workmen cut power to protect firemen. Police at the scene voiced concern that falling power lines might electrocute bystanders.

Weyand picked for post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House officials declined comment Saturday on a report President Nixon has chosen Gen. Frederick C. Weyand to be the new Army vice chief of staff.

Weyand, 56, would succeed Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., who has resigned from the Army to become White House staff chief. Weyand is a former commander of U. S. forces in Vietnam and served in World War II and Korea.

Steen's debt ruled $480,817

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Former uranium king Charles Steen owes the Internal Revenue Service $480,817.19.

A federal judge set that figure in a judgment reviewing a bankruptcy referee's ruling. The IRS claimed Steen owed $1.3 million in its appeal of an earlier ruling setting the debt at $483,154.

Treasury sets fuel hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department will open public hearings next week to decide if the nation needs a rationing program to meet the current gasoline shortage or if the present voluntary allocation system by major refiners is working.

Millionaire dies in plane crash

CLEAR LAKE OAKS, Calif. (UPI) — William Penn Patrick, cosmetics millionaire and 1966 candidate for California governor, died Saturday in the crash of a P51 Mustang near his ranch.

Patrick, 43, was at the controls of the plane when it hit a ridge a mile from his estate about 80 miles north of San Francisco. A business association, George Hagert, 30, also was killed.

Irish taxi driver slain

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A Roman Catholic taxi driver was beaten to death and at least 12 other persons were injured in shootings and bombings Saturday in Northern Ireland.

Bombs exploded at a pub, a factory cafeteria and a discotheque in Belfast and at a Londonderry police station and Lurgan post office.

Secretariat wins triple crown

The big red colt won the 105th running of the $150,200 race in 2:24, leaving four other entries far behind on the track. He set a world record for the 1.5 mile race. (Details, p. 16)

Faisal talks off in Rome

ROME (UPI) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia discussed oil, trade and the Middle East Saturday with Italian President Giovanni Leone and Premier Giulio Andreotti, government spokesmen said.

They described the talks as "particularly cordial and frank." The spokesmen said the talks dealt with "the common interest of the two countries in reaching a peaceful and stable solution" for the Middle East conflict.

Nixon pal implicates former aide

By New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Charles W. Colson says that late last January, and again in February and March, while he was still special counsel at the White House, he warned President Nixon that he must force former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to admit that he had played a role in planning the Watergate burglary.

However, Colson, one of Nixon's closest political confidantes, says that as late as mid-March the President told him that he did not believe Mitchell or any of his senior aides were guilty and that, with specific reference to Mitchell, he would not make a scape-goat of an innocent man.

As interpreted by Colson in an extended interview this past week, the President's remarks constitute proof that Nixon knew no more than he has publicly stated about the burglary of the Democrats' headquarters or the subsequent cover-up. Essentially, they show that the President accepted all the official denials until "new charges" came to his attention on March 21, in Colson's view.

Colson said that, on the basis of daily conversations with Nixon last year and frequent consultations this year, before and after returning to private law practice on March 1, "I would stake my life" on the President's disclaimers, "only because I can't think of anything that he and I didn't talk about openly."

William Hundley, Mitchell's lawyer, responded to the Colson interview by saying, "the whole tenor of Colson's allegations against Mitchell is untrue. When Mitchell lays out his story before the proper forum, the untruthfulness of Colson's version will be clear. To answer the story now — particularly the inferences, the innuendo and the hearsay — we would have to lay out Mitchell's whole story — and on my advice we are not going to do that in the press."

In a familiar role as counterattacker in behalf of Nixon, Colson spoke in angry reaction to charges that the President had been deeply involved in the scandal. Most recently such charges have come from James W. McCord Jr., the convicted Watergate burglar, and indirectly from John W. Dean III, the former White House counsel.

Colson dismissed McCord as a "convicted felon" using "second-and-third-hand hearsay." He said Dean had had very limited access to the President's office and is now manufacturing sensational charges in the hope of bargaining for immunity from prosecution.

Midwest scanned

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab's astronauts conducted their longest survey of earth's resources Saturday, looking at corn fields in Nebraska, strip mining in Kentucky and searching for oil in Venezuela.

The astronauts, in the 16th day of their 28-day mission, trained a heat-seeking sensor at the corn fields to look for diseased areas. The diseased crops show on special film as a different color than healthy plants.

Viet talks halted

PARIS (UPI) — Henry Kissinger broke off his talks with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho Saturday and flew back to Washington for the weekend. He said he would return to Paris Tuesday to work out problems in wording a new formula to buttress the Vietnam peace agreement.

Kissinger's departure came as a surprise since U.S. officials Friday had confidently predicted that Saturday's meeting would be the last and that a new agreement would be forthcoming.

Asked about the predictions, Kissinger said: "American officials have sometimes been mistaken in their estimates of the length of time required to bring Vietnamese parties to a common realization of the significance of certain words."

Rockets kill 3

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist gunners fired 10 rockets into and around Phnom Penh's Pochentong Airport early Sunday, killing at least three persons and wounding eight others, field reports said.

Elmore patents hit

BOISE (UPI) — An appellate court has ruled against desert land patents and applications for the Indian Hills pump irrigation project near Hammett.

The State Director of the Bureau of Land Management, William L. Mathews, said he received word of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals' decision on Friday.

In 1965 the Interior Department Solicitor Ruled against issuing patents to 12 persons on more than 3,000 acres of land in Owyhee County.

He held that those seeking the land had not complied with provisions of the Desert Land Act of 1877.

But U. S. District Judge Ray McNichols reversed that decision in 1970 and the Interior Department appealed to the Ninth Circuit Court in San Francisco.

Under the Desert Land Act a single person may apply for 320 acres. He can gain a patent if he meets the terms of the act and regulations in bringing the land under cultivation. Such a person is called an entryman.

Entrymen in the Indian Hills case fought to join together to pump water onto the land from the Snake River. But the solicitor held that methods used by the entrymen to develop their land did not meet BLM regulations.

The Desert Land Act is not the same as the homestead law and term entryman is not synonymous with homesteader. A homesteader is limited to 160 acres. Entrymen can get up to 320 acres.

Graveside services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Monday in the Jerome Cemetery with Rev. Harold B. Livingston officiating. Services are under the direction of Hove Funeral Chapel, Jerome.

TF firemen kept busy answering six alarms

TWIN FALLS — Firemen in Twin Falls were busy Friday with six alarms during the day, only one of them causing any recordable damage.

Largest of the fires occurred at the Western Salvage Yard owned by Luke Francis at 904 Fourth Ave. W. Firemen said one small building was destroyed and fire spread through a section of salvage material on the rim of Rock Creek Canyon.

Cause of the fire was undetermined. The fire occurred at 3:24 p.m. and trucks remained at the scene about three hours. A return call was made Saturday morning after fire broke out again in the same area.

Luke Francis said his loss would probably be about $1,000 including the building which he said was formerly a chicken coop used now for storage of salvage materials.

Other fires included one at 10:21 a.m. at Troy National Laundry where lint in a dryer became overheated and burned. There was no damage. Another was reported at 11:10 a.m. Friday in the Plyway Co., 124 Blue Lakes S., when a blaze broke out in weeds near the building supply company.

At 1:39 the department sent trucks to an area just behind Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where a weed fire was extinguished. No damage was reported.

At 10:20 p.m. the department was called to the same general area where a power pole was reported burning as a result of a spark from the earlier fire.

Firemen said the last call of the day occurred at 11:20 p.m. when officials of the Data Processing firm, 338 Third St. E., called to report a strong smell of smoke. Firemen were unable to find a fire.

The House Legal Services Goose

WASHINGTON — As happens on occasion, the two branches of Congress are currently displaying strikingly differing standards of morality.

In the Senate, a special investigating committee is self-righteously garnering headlines raking over the tawdry details of the reeking Watergate miasma. At the same time, virtually ignored by the media and hence unknown to the public at large, House leaders are set to ram through legislation continuing the scandal-ravaged Legal Services program — of the even more malodorous Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), due to be junked at the end of this month.

There is no question Watergate stinks. Similarly, there is equally no question the same is overwhelmingly true of Legal Services.

But the Senate's sensational morality show is, a sellout production. While unheralded in the House, the parliamentary skids are poised to give the widely discredited Legal Services another lease on life — at a cost of $70 million to taxpayers.

To paraphrase an old saying — what is sauce for the Senate is goose for the House.

In other words, among politicians, morality is as morality does.

The legislative record on the Legal Services bill is shocking — even for the Democratic-bossed House. A liberal-packed Education and Labor subcommittee, wholly without public hearings, rushed through in three days a measure setting up a so-called "independent" National Legal Services Corporation to provide "legal services to the poor."

Stripped from the measure were most of the safeguards demanded by President Nixon to end the abuses and political outrages which brought Legal Services to such extensive and scathing disrepute. Rep. Earl Landgrebe, R-Ind., member of the panel, blisteringly denounced this watered-down bill as "leftist activism."

The primary goal of this legislation, he charged bluntly, "is to promote leftist causes and not to serve the poor."

If the measure's handlers can pull it off, their backstage aim is to blitz it through the House this week — with the understanding it will get equally speedy action in the Senate.

Inside word is that Senate Democratic leaders have agreed to seek immediate approval of the House bill without sending it to committee; that is, to short-circuit the normal legislative process and without deliberation, other than floor discussion, enact the House measure into law.

Rep. Landgrebe and other opponents are warning such high-handed legislating is certain to incur a presidential veto.

But that doesn't seem to deter the Democratic leaders — particularly Reps. Carl Perkins, Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, and Augustus Hawkins, Calif., head of the Equal Opportunities subcommittee that concocted the liberal-diluted bill. They seem bent on highballing it through — regardless of consequences.

Landgrebe, spearheading a determined delaying battle, did prevent the legislation from being rammed through the House last week by astutely resorting to parliamentary stratagems. Invoking the rule requiring a three-day layover for submission of minority views, the Indianan stalled action until this week and possibly next.

Also, he led a raking assault on the measure on the floor of the House by a number of opponents from all sections of the country.

It is glaringly noteworthy that none of this highly significant discussion was reported by the media. Although 14 well-known legislators participated and mined no words in exonerating Legal Services, that was ignored by the media.

"It's Not the ONLY Game in Town, Fellows!"

Cry "Wolf"

Suppose they cried "Wolf!" and nobody came?

It happened in the fable and it could happen for real if environmentalists and others whose business it is to alert us to the future don't learn to temper their alarms with common sense.

For instance, says Stewart L. Udall, the current shortage of gasoline is a national "nightmare." "Rationing has already begun," says the former secretary of the Interior, who now runs his own environmental consulting firm in Bethesda, Md. "The whole cutrate segment of the gasoline industry is being forced out of business. It may become a thing of the past before this year is out."

While there have been and are gasoline and other fuel pinches in parts of the country and may be worse ones to come, the latter statement will be news to thousands of independent stations who have been pumping the same volume throughout the "crisis" and at the same prices, despite irresponsible predictions by some people that gasoline will soon cost a dollar a gallon.

August is the month when the real gasoline crunch will be felt, says Udall, who then proceeds to give the very kind of advice that could precipitate that crunch and other kinds as well:

"My advice is for people to take their vacations before August and plan to stay closer to home."

Having had that last fling, Americans, he suggests, are going to have to change their life-style drastically from here on out, particularly with respect to automobiles.

It may well be that America's honeymoon with the internal combustion engine is nearing its end. Petroleum simply has too many valuable uses for so much of it to be burned up just in moving people around. Neither do we want to go completely into hock with the Arabs, who seem to be sitting on most of the world's oil.

But it is interesting that those who are most alarmed about the gasoline shortage in the 1970s are the same ones who worried in the 1960s that we were about to be asphyxiated by automobile exhausts — with one result that today's low-pollution but gas-guzzling cars have contributed no little bit to Udall's present "nightmare."

Scare talk is a good way to get people's attention; it is the worst possible way to encourage them to make rational decisions.

Another danger is that when they discover that the situation is not really as bad as they were led to believe, they may conclude that there is nothing to be concerned about at all.

The Bread We Spread In Space

We really didn't need all that trouble with Skylab.

With Yankee dollars shaky worldwide and shrinking stateside; with confidence in Americanism shaken by public debt and public scandal; we really did not need any "hugs" in our prestigious $294 million Skylab project.

Queen Isabella did not hock her jewels to finance Columbus just to prove the world was round; she wanted to claim for Spain the rumored riches of the Indies.

The primary motivation for most exploration has been monetary and it still is. Budget-pinched Americans have sometimes construed our space budget as an "expense" rather than an "investment."

Even members of Congress whose districts lack jobs right now dependent on space exploration are inclined to ignore the long-term fringe benefits.

The myriad products and processes which have already resulted from our investment in space exploration have profited us economically many times over.

For example, new electrical wiring which can be stuck on a wall and painted over, batteries which can be charged 100 times faster, more accurate digital clocks, the sight-switch with which a paralyzed person can steer a wheelchair.

Each of these is a spinoff from our successes and our failures in space.

Safer automobile tires, antifogging compound for your windshield and your eyeglasses, improved lubricants and heat-resistant ceramics for kitchenware — all have been harvested from "empty space" technology.

Space exploration has resulted in 1,892 patents for practical, usable, beneficial, productive "things" which never were before and might never have been.

And yet we invest only two cents of each federal budget dollar in this highly profitable research while 45 cents of every dollar goes to one or another form of welfare.

Last year our government spent a total of $3 billion on space; California alone spent that much on welfare programs.

Forgetting the material blessings, just the medical fallout from 11 years of spaceflight may add that many years to the life of each of us.

Illnesses are now being diagnosed and treated by remote control. Bloodless surgery is being performed now with tools developed by space medics.

Our space-bought knowledge of our own planet — its seas, its resources, its climate — is of infinitely greater ecological significance than the combined efforts of the shortsighted ecologists who would divert space money.

America has not bought so much for so little since the Louisiana Purchase.

The "bread" we spread in space comes back a hundredfold!

What Did We Discuss Back In Those Days?

WASHINGTON: A group of us were sitting around the dining room table the other night when suddenly someone asked, "What did people talk about in this country before Watergate?"

There was shocked silence. It was hard for any of us to believe there was anything before Watergate.

"Didn't we talk about meat?" one of the men asked. "I think we did," one of the ladies replied, "but I can't remember what we said about it."

"I believe it had to do with the price of it. Wasn't there something about a boycott?" someone added.

"That's correct," a man said. "We kept saying the price of steak was too high. But surely we talked about other things besides meat."

We all started wracking our brains.

"Wait a minute!" a friend shouted. "Wasn't there something about amnesty?"

"You mean for people involved in Watergate?"

"No, stupid, we talked about amnesty before Watergate. It had to do with draft dodgers."

"It's funny," a woman said. "I always get amnesty and immunity mixed up."

"So does the President. If it hadn't been for Watergate Nixon planned to make a big issue of amnesty."

"I don't recall talking much about amnesty," another person said. "In our family we talked about how McGovern blew the election."

someone asked.

"He was the Democratic candidate who 'ran' against Nixon in the election."

"What election?"

"The presidential election of 1972. If it hadn't been for the election we wouldn't have had a Watergate."

"Now it's coming back to me. McGovern ran with an Indian named Eaglefeather," a lady said.

"Eagleton," her husband corrected her. "And he wasn't an Indian. He was treated for shock."

"He was not treated for shock. He was treated with shock. That's why what's-his-name dropped him from the ticket."

"Well, then who ran with McGovern?"

Nobody at the table could remember.

"It wasn't Humphrey," a man said with assurance.

"And it wasn't Sparkman."

"Oh well, it's not important. Say, I just remembered something we talked about before the Watergate — impounded funds. The President said he was impounding money Congress had allocated, and Congress said it was illegal. It was a pretty hot debate as I recall."

"Didn't we talk about what kind of FBI director Patrick Gray would make?"

"I thought the big argument was how much financial aid we should give to North Vietnam."

"They were great days, someone said nostalgically. 'I wonder if we'll ever see the like again?'"

"Do you think Watergate will be over before the football season starts?"

"Are you kidding? They're predicting it will go on for 20 years."

"That's a shame, because I'm going to miss talking about the Redskins."

"Not as much as Nixon will."

"Let's make a pact not to talk about Watergate for the rest of the evening."

Everyone agreed. We ate our food silently. Finally someone asked, "Has anyone seen 'Deep Throat'?"

No one had. We returned to our food. Every guest tried to think of another subject besides Watergate, but no one could come up with one.

So we all left hurriedly after coffee.

The Bricks Are No Water Savers

An expert who has, uh, looked deeply into the situation has some sobering news for those thousands — perhaps millions? — of people who are keeping bricks in their bathrooms in the mistaken notion that they are helping the cause of conservation.

Placing a brick into a toilet tank to save water is not only "ridiculous" but "is a pure case of environmental emotionalism," states Fred E. Schmuck, chairman of the board of the Association of Industry Manufacturers (Plumbing — Cooling — Heating — Piping). He is also president of Fluidmaster, Inc., a company that makes some of the mechanism that shares the space with the bricks.

Schmuck's blast is inspired by the news that the City Council of Concord, Calif., is considering purchasing and distributing 50,000 bricks. Last December, Cherry Hill, N.J., actually did purchase 34,000 bricks in the hope of saving 34 million gallons of water annually.

Theoretically, a brick should save a volume of water equal to its displacement. But in the actual operation of a tank, explains Schmuck, the stopper reseals and stops the flushing action with two to three inches of water remaining.

This water will keep a horizontally placed brick continuously submerged and will cover over 30 per cent of a vertically placed brick.

Thus a horizontal brick does no good at all and the savings from a vertical brick are very minimal.

Much better than a brick, says Schmuck, is a tall, weighted plastic bottle standing in the tank. Better still is lowering the upper water level an inch or two by bending the float ball downward or by installing an adjustable ballcock.

Lowering the water level by two inches, which does not adversely affect flushing, results in over five times the water savings than from a standing brick — over 20 gallons a day for an average family.

This, notes Schmuck, will just about counter the water wasted by a leaky faucet.

GHOST ON THE GO?

From Port Elizabeth, South Africa, comes a report that a ghost is haunting the New Law Courts Building in that city.

According to the newspaper Die Osterlig, the apparition is that of a uniformed policeman and one of the places it has been sighted in is a public restroom.

Well, as they say in ectoplasm biz, when you gotta ghost, you gotta ghost.

Shame On You Folks, Picking On The Postal Service

By O. A. (Gus) KELKER

Editor, Times-News

It's just one of those things. Of late — in fact for sometime — the United States Postal Service has been the brunt of many jokes and many side remarks which we wouldn't dare print on such a nice Sunday morning.

But every worm turns. I suppose that would fit the meaning, or the intent, of this article today because we would like to stand up for the service. Nothing can be all bad, and that goes for the post office department. So we are out to prove our point.

The way to get right down to brass tacks is to contact someone who knows what they are talking about. How about Murray Comarow, who is Senior Assistant Postmaster General, customer services? Just a few days ago he gave a talk back east. So we obtained a copy of that talk.

We're sure that after you read a few of his remarks — picked from his complete text to prove out our point that not everything is bad — you will be just a little ashamed of past remarks aimed to undermine the work of the faithful "dark of night, rain or snow" boys.

So read on and we'll get you more ashamed as we get into the meat of this thing.

Much of the complaining about postal services is built on myths, Mr. Comarow said. And these myths can influence rational men and women in irrational ways.

There is the myth that the Postal Service has been turned into a private corporation that's hell-bent for profits at the expense of public service. The truth is, the speaker said, that the Service is an independent agency of the executive branch of Government.

Break even — yes! Make a profit, No!

Then there's the "grass is greener" myth. This one tells us that foreign mail services — just about any of them — are better than ours. Actually, no foreign service may fairly be compared to our own. Take England, where they run a good service. Their daily mail volume — the whole country together — is just about the same as New York City alone.

Actually, we handle half the volume of the world's mail right in the United States.

And it is hard to get some people to believe it — but it is really true. Ninety-five per cent of the first class local mail is delivered overnight. Nearly all first class letters are delivered in the United States within two or three days.

Two financial myths:

One says the Service subsidizes so-called "junk" mail. The speaker dislikes the term "junk" because he believes a customer's mail just isn't junk. Advertising mail fully pays its direct handling costs plus its fair share of overhead. There's no subsidy whatever.

The other is that magazines and newspapers are being driven out of business. Mr. Comarow says the Department of Commerce and the industry's own trade publications including "Printing and Publishing," paint a bright picture for the nation's print media. Revenues are expected to increase seven per cent this year over 1972, reaching $30 billion. The growth rate is projected at six per cent annually. And while in the magazine field there were 160 sold, merged or discontinued in the decade covering 1962 to last year, there were 753 new ones started.

And about life: During the last postal rate hearing before Life's discontinuance, TIME, Inc., stated that in 1970 their second-class mailing cost for its four magazines was 2.9 per cent of operating expenses. As late as 1970 it paid 2.2 per cent. So the Postal official said that while the demise of any magazine is sad, it is even sadder to suggest that it was destroyed by eight-tenths of a cent per copy.

And then he went on to point out that while moving in operations and customer service, "we have been moving just as boldly to create career opportunities for postal employees. Prior to reform two-thirds of our employees retired in the same job they originally occupied. Now, patronage has been replaced with a program of promotion from within on the basis of merit. By the end of this year 8,000 of our 32,000 postmasters will have been appointed under the merit system. And for each postmaster appointed, there are promotions down the line, again on the basis of merit."

The future? "Today and tomorrow," he said, "our policy is service. We mean service that's not only geared to your needs but also price-conscious. There is no challenge, and no future, in providing the best possible service at the highest possible price. When people ask me whether our service is any good, I ask 'compared to what?'"

"Mail service today is certainly far better than it was during the Christmas slump which endured well into January."

"In my judgment mail service is somewhat better than it was on July 1, 1971. You might argue that some improvement is really rather marginal. In a statistical sense, you would be absolutely right. In a broader sense, however, the improvement is anything but marginal."

"In 22 months we have arrested alarming system deterioration and made real gains — and in the process we have avoided a $900 million rate increase. Marginal? That's solid achievement."

So there you have a part of what Mr. Comarow said. He believed that we users of the mails had a right to his candid views. And we believe him to be right.

And right here we would say something about mail service as we know it in Twin Falls.

We can mail an airmail letter here and it is delivered in Portland, Bellevue or Seattle on the west coast the next morning. Airmail letters we mail today are delivered in San Francisco tomorrow.

A first class letter mailed today will get there day after tomorrow.

A first class letter mailed here today is delivered in Boise or Salt Lake City tomorrow morning.

Some people — some of our citizens — bellyache about the mail delivery. Probably what is wrong is the time they are mailing that letter.

A letter mailed in a neighborhood box at night is not going to get anywhere. It will stay in the box until next day. A letter mailed at the post office — or even in the neighborhood box — at the right time will be on its way before you know it.

If you don't know when the mail leaves the post office, all you have to do is ask. And if you get it in at the right time it will go out at the right time.

It's just as simple as that!

So, like we said, aren't you a little ashamed about the way you have been picking on the Postal Service?

The Tourist Season

Editor, Times-News:

Europe's plans for the coming tourist season, as reported by our foremost news weeklies, make interesting reading. Prices to Americans are being enthusiastically upped all-out of proportion to the inflated status of our currency and our dollars, as such, are not particularly noticed.

Well, sir, we can understand and sympathize with this attitude to a certain extent since our money is not worth a damn over here either.

However, it may be recalled that many of these Europeans not long ago were hauling their own money around in wheelbarrows until the Marshall plan was put into operation.

That plan, as we all know, was intended as a temporary measure to help a continent almost bankrupt by World War II. It has now been going on for 25 years during which time we have set both friend and enemy back up in business to a point where we are now finding it difficult to compete with them.

It seems to me that we have been remarkably successful in priming the pumps of a large part of the world in the same way we primed our own during depression days. History does not record anything to compare with it. In view of the healthy, not to say belligerent attitudes extant, perhaps the pump is sufficiently primed.

Rumor Fighting

Editor, Times-News:

How can you fight a rumor? By telling it like it is.

We own the bank and use a gas station and garage in Stanley, Idaho, 126 miles from Boise, 129 from Twin Falls, 60 miles from Sun Valley, Ketchum, 180 from Idaho Falls, 113 from Salmon and next door to Idaho's Primitive Area.

The past 3 day weekend (Memorial Day) I can not begin to count the people that drove into our station and were so surprised to find that we had gas and at a reasonable price. All you can buy. We are one of four stations in Stanley and the newest owners in the area, and most probably the first ones to run out, if and when we do suffer the shortage. We have a short season in this area partially because highway 21 isn't open year round and people are just finding out where we are. Check National Geographic. We have all the fish you can catch, nice motels, good grocery stores, laundries, a hardware store, a gift shop, rock shop, a drive-in cafe, service stations, and bars.

If you can get to Stanley, we can get you home and not rob you to do it. Gas certainly isn't $1.50 per gallon. Come up and see us sometime.

Certification Process

Editor, Times-News:

An open letter to Ronda Hunt, chairman of board of trustees, Blaine County School District.

I want to thank you for attending what must have been for you a most uncomfortable meeting. I would also like to state that I am sure you are sincere in your position on Mr. Hazard.

I think I can appreciate that stand since I lived in Arcu, a community somewhat similar to yours, prior to moving here. And, during that time I went through the very difficult procedure of obtaining certification while living and working in an outlying district.

I was asked by one of the teachers at the meeting last night if I did not appreciate the fact that Mr. Hazard should go through the same difficult procedure as I. This line of argument makes the whole certification process take on the aspect of an obstacle course, the thinking being: "If I had to do it, so should everyone else." No, I believe that is a sad fact that in an attempt to put a floor on qualifications, we teachers have also put a ceiling.

Between the certification demands that are sometimes disproportionate to specific needs and the abuse of tenure by some teachers, we have created a protectionist atmosphere that is serving more and more to keep outstanding people at arms length instead of inviting them into the profession.

I wish that we could turn this energy and attention toward the source of this problem and into the re-evaluating of the certification procedure. Perhaps it is the very unnecessary fear of this, on the part of some people, that has generated so much opposition toward Mr. Hazard.

Nevertheless, I think we should all address ourselves to the question of where is certification helping and where is it hindering. Certification, of course, never made a teacher or administrator. The capacity has to be there in the beginning. In most cases it has directed the development as intended, but it has become cumbersome by its unnecessary length and sacrifice required. It has looked in people who would be happier making a living another way as well as locked out many who have found later in life and profession, their talent and the rewards of careers in education. Education should encourage competition from these people by offering them the opportunity to prove themselves capable and then a reasonable means of becoming certified without undue pressures.

Here in Ketchum we have a situation not near so radical as I suggest. Mr. Hazard has spent years in practicing education and has demonstrated an extraordinary talent and ability in this field. If the intent of certification is to be salvaged, it must not be so rigidly interpreted as to be self-defeating. The leading people in education in our state obviously recognize this and have attempted to interpret and advise us with our local situation so as to preserve the intent of certification.

Since the students and parents of these children have repeatedly demonstrated their support of the administration of the Hemingway School by Mr. Hazard, I respectfully request that the Blaine County Board of Trustees preserve the integrity of the intent of certification by reconsidering their position of Mr. Hazard, principal of Hemingway School.

School Staff

Editor, Times-News:

Another school year is ending and I would like to express my appreciation to the staff of Hagerman Schools. I feel they have done an outstanding job, not only in the classroom, but in other areas as well. Many times the only thing we know of a teacher are the things we "hear" when an unpleasant situation occurs. They spend many evenings and Saturdays helping students get on all around education. Where do I get the basis for these statements?

I believe the best way is to get involved in the school program by offering your help. By doing this, I came to know the teachers in a much better way and could see just what they were trying to accomplish. I realize that many parents are not free to do this. From this experience I could see the dedication of the teachers and I feel they deserve a well earned "thank you."

Despicable

Editor, Times-News:

Last week I went to Sunset Memorial Park to pay tribute and respect to my parents by placing floral arrangements and artificial sprays on their graves.

I know this incident is not unique, because wreaths were also removed last year. How despicable must people be!

Beyond Him

Editor, Times-News:

It is beyond me to understand the fuss about Watergate. Granted a crime was committed that in the nature of breaking and entering, the lesser of the two, and conspiracy, a rather sobering dilemma when considering the positions held by those who committed the crime, but why be shocked?

I think the corruption in politics is well known, we just choose to do very little about it. After all it might effect my watching the third re-run of the twenty-year old Monday night movie on television.

But, I'm still baffled, I'll admit, why any party of political nature, supposedly conceived in the light of freedom for the true representation of the American citizen have anything to hide. Should not all records affected of political communication be declared public and made known to everyone of us.

The crimes here are two, the most monumental being that political activities are not of public record. I ask you, how can the best man win?

Education In Carey

Editor, Times-News:

I have read and heard much about the current discussion concerning the schools of Blaine County and now that I am no longer employed by Blaine County School District I would like to discuss a few of the allegations that have been made in certain news articles. We have even been referred to as the hillier part of Blaine County and one would suppose from reading some newspaper articles that education in Carey must be at least a hundred years behind times and that the only progress in this district is made at Hemingway School.

I agree we don't get the big splashes of publicity that Hemingway school does and from the news media a person would be led to believe Mr. Hazard invented field trips, team teaching, non-graded classrooms, individualized instruction, and parent conferences, but actually Carey School has been employing many of these practices from the time I began as a teacher here 8 years ago and I'm sure for many years previous to that time.

I challenge anyone who has visited our school to compare it with any school of corresponding size and even larger schools. We feel our smallness is an advantage which allows true individualization in the classroom.

The students enjoy school at Carey (I'm sure I could have them sign a petition supporting this claim) although they are required to do many things which are not particularly fun or that they would not choose to do on their own. They are taught respect for others and respect for property and our school facilities and daily school activities show the results of this policy.

I support the School Board in their recent action and feel that certification laws in Idaho are meant for everyone. I've been through the process and know what it involves and feel that anyone with a similar position should meet the same standards I was required to meet.

I could write much more, but I only wanted to make a statement concerning all the publicity related to the schools in Blaine County and would like to invite any of the patrons of Blaine County to visit the school in Carey and then compare.

Reds ambush Cambodia force

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist troops using gas and captured howitzers ambushed a government armored column pushing down Highway 4 about 15 miles southwest of Phnom Penh Saturday, field reports said.

The reports said five government soldiers including a lieutenant were killed, 15 wounded and 10 others incapacitated by the unidentified gas in the "hour-long" battle that started at midday about a mile from the district town of Ang Snoul.

There has been heavy fighting in the area all week.

None of the government armored personnel carriers was damaged in the fight. The reports said the government troops retreated back to the highway under cover of Cambodian air force T-28 bombers and UA-24 light armed reconnaissance planes. Further from the front line, U.S. Air Force F-4 Phantom jets pounded suspected Communist reinforcement columns moving toward the battle scene from the south, reporters said.

Senior officers on the front line told reporters the enemy used captured 105mm heavy artillery pieces as well as 60 and 82mm mortars and small arms in the ambush.

Further south, officers said government troops abandoned two positions surrounded by Communists on a secondary road 24 miles from Phnom Penh. The two company-sized positions were encircled at the beginning of the southwest offensive Sunday. They held out for almost a week with no reinforcements and both groups took light casualties in breaking through Communist lines and returning to their own, the reports said.

Elsewhere in Cambodia, 11 empty ships left Phnom Penh on the Mekong River, headed for South Vietnam. The convoy sailed under air cover of U.S. warplanes from bases in Thailand, naval sources said.

Ten of the ships brought a cargo of fuel, ammunition and cement to Phnom Penh on Thursday. The 11th ship was from a previous convoy.

Military sources said seven new U.S. motorized landing craft (LCM's) were waiting at the frontier to be ferried up for delivery to the Cambodian navy. The ships were to be crewed by Cambodians, the sources said.

Viet battles increase

By New York Times Service

SAIGON — Fighting in South Vietnam surged to its highest level since mid-February as both the Saigon government and the communists appeared to be jockeying for more territory on the eve of an expected new appeal in Paris for a cease-fire.

The South Vietnamese command reported 161 incidents in the 24-hour period ending at dawn Saturday, more than twice the daily average for May.

The heaviest fighting broke out near Lai Ke, 35 miles north of Saigon, where government troops backed by tanks and air strikes reportedly tried to open a long blacked-out stretch of Highway 13 leading to An Loc.

Fifty-one Communists were killed, with the loss of 11 government soldiers killed and 29 wounded, according to a Saigon military spokesman.

The government reported little ground as they met fierce resistance and were forced to return to their original positions outside Lai Ke, the division's headquarters.

The upsurge in fighting resembled the enormous increase in attacks shortly before a peace agreement was originally expected last October and then again at the end of January when the Paris accord was finally signed.

At those times most of the attacks appeared to have been started by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in an effort to seize key towns and highways so that they would control them after the cease-fire went into effect.

Mayor revolts

POCATELLO (UPI) — Mayor Bill Roskelley has proclaimed next week "non-proclamation week" in the city.

Roskelley said so far this year he has issued 2,328 proclamations, taking up a lot of his time.

"I do hereby proclaim the week of June 11 as non-proclamation week so I can get something done," Roskelley said.

Soviets launch 8 defense satellites

By New York Times Service

MOSCOW — Undeterred by failures in its manned space program, the Soviet Union has been pursuing an active effort in launching a variety of instrumented spacecraft, mostly for defense intelligence purposes.

The latest launch, announced Saturday, involved an eight-satellite cluster sent aloft with a single carrier rocket. The system, the sixth in the last two and a half years, is believed designed for global military communications similar to one used by the United States Air Force.

Since the only worldwide military activities of the Soviet Union are those of its navy, the Soviet system is assumed by western analysts to be used primarily for naval communications.

The eight satellites, launched yesterday under the code names Cosmos 564 through 571, bring to about 40 the total of unmanned spacecraft sent up by the Soviet Union so far this year.

Only one-fourth of them have been clearly identifiable civilian applications such as weather research, television relay and solar radiation studies. The purpose of the defense satellites is never announced.

Aid assured

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration assured public school authorities Saturday they would continue to receive federal aid grants next year despite Congress' failure to approve a substitute, $2.8 billion revenue sharing bill for education.

The letter to state school superintendents from John Ottina, the U.S. education commissioner-designate, was of great importance to the nation's schools, which were uncertain where further federal aid would come from if revenue sharing weren't approved.

It also was an admission of defeat for the administration's hopes of pushing the revenue sharing through Congress in time for the 1973-74 school year.

New trial requested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James W. McCord Jr., facing sentencing in one week, asked a federal judge Friday to reverse his Watergate bugging conviction or grant a new trial because of "massive efforts in this case to obstruct justice" — including perjury by a Nixon campaign aide.

The former Nixon campaign security chief, whose post-trial allegations led to a new grand jury investigation and a wave of government resignations, made his plea in a 20-page motion filed with Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica.

"Perhaps never before in the annals of American law has such a web of conspiracy been designed to obstruct and impede the due course of justice," said McCord, who was convicted Jan. 30 of conspiracy, burglary, illegal wiretapping and bugging at Democratic headquarters at the Watergate last June.

McCord charged he was denied at his trial in January the defense that "He was acting under the direction of his superiors at the White House."

He also asserted that "on his own knowledge," he believes that Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy Nixon campaign director, committed perjury at the Watergate trial when he testified that no one higher than former White House aide G. Gordon Liddy was involved.

Magruder's testimony, he said, was "central to the whole theory of prosecution," and that it appeared Magruder's tainted statements were "knowingly and intentionally used by the prosecution" at the trial.

McCord said he was "entitled by high government officials" into the bugging operation and was unaware at the time of the existence of the White House team of "plumbers" — of which Liddy and fellow conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. were members — that was secretly established to plug leaks of classified security documents.

Colson says danger told

Yet the Colson defense of the President also charges that other Nixon loyalists, notably H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, formerly the President's top aides, diverted important information about the Watergate affair from their chief — and may have been participants in the cover-up.

In early February, Colson has told federal prosecutors, he informed Haldeman that he was worried about possible perjury and obstruction of justice at the first Watergate trial, held last January. Payments by Nixon associates to the Watergate defendants could be construed as criminal "hush money," he remembers telling Haldeman. But he has testified that Haldeman responded that he knew about the payments and was not concerned.

Colson has told the prosecutors that he has no evidence connecting Ehrlichman to the Watergate affair. But he has expressed concern that as late as mid-April when he delivered to Ehrlichman further evidence against key Nixon aides, Ehrlichman relayed the information to Haldeman and Dean before giving it to Nixon.

In the sharpest confirmation yet of the hostile mood among old Nixon associates, Colson said that the main reason he had withheld his story from reporters was the fear that his former colleagues, in response, would frame a case against him.

"I've been scared to death to tell my story for fear that Haldeman and Ehrlichman will contrive a story against me," Colson said, "or for fear that I'll be pitted one guy against another, or for fear that I'll get myself dragged in, or I'll get a prosecutor mad at me, or that the grand jury will think I'm playing games."

Dean contends data destroyed

According to Weicker's report, about June 18, the day after the burglary, "Strachan told Dean that he had been ordered by Haldeman to destroy documents which indicated that Haldeman had awareness of actual data received from the wiretap at the Democratic National Committee."

The report, quoting Dean, goes on to say that "Strachan destroyed these documents in his office on the 17th or 18th of June."

Haldeman was the White House chief of staff and President Nixon's closest aide until he resigned April 30.

In a deposition taken last month, Haldeman acknowledged that reports had reached his office that could possibly have been logs of the wiretap on the Democratic headquarters. Haldeman said that he had not personally seen the reports, however, and did not know for certain what they contained.

Haldeman did not say that he had ordered any documents destroyed.

In his deposition, given in the Democratic party's damage suit against the Nixon reelection committee and other Nixon supporters, which was made public this week, Haldeman attributed much of the blame for the planning of the burglary and the subsequent cover-up to Dean.

In his interview with Senator Weicker, Dean was quoted as saying that he did not believe that the president had been aware of the Watergate operation before it occurred.

US safety agency enforces deadline

By N. Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — The Federal government's newest regulatory agency, the Consumer Product Safety Commission, has taken a firm pro-consumer stance in its first regulatory action.

By a vote of 40 to 0, the commission refused this past week to postpone the effective date of a mattress flammability standard immediately provoking two industry lawsuits and expressions of shock by industry spokesmen.

While consumer advocates were generally pleased with the agency's initial display of toughness, they were quick to point out that "one swallow does not make a summer."

And a commission spokesman cautioned reporters against drawing any inferences as to the agency's stance in future decisions.

New plane slated

By N. Y. Times Service

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia — Cambodian pilots are being trained to operate a new type of close-support combat plane which it is hoped will significantly augment air support provided by the United States, an informed source disclosed here Saturday.

The airplane involved is the American-built Helio Stallion, a single-engine light plane equipped with the ultrafast firing "minigun" machine gun.

The small planes, carrying a three-man crew and powered by turboprop engines, are capable of circling government positions and pouring an enormous volume of machine gun fire from their side doors into attacking troop concentrations.

The source declined to say how many of the new Helio Stallions are being assigned to the Cambodian Air Force or how many Cambodian pilots are being trained in Thailand.

Military officials here are deeply concerned about the probable effect on the Cambodian war of a cessation of American air support.

Guerrillas rowed help

By New York Times Service

BEIRUT — Syrian President Hafez Al-Assad Saturday repeated his country's determination to support for Palestinian guerrillas and provide them with sanctuary in spite of Israeli threats of reprisals.

Addressing the opening session of the newly-elected Syrian Parliament in Damascus, Assad said that Israel threatened to strike at Syria if the latter interfered in Lebanon during last month's fighting between the Lebanese army and the guerrillas.

"These threats will not make us change our policy, and Syria will remain the prime supporter and main sanctuary of the Palestinian resistance movement," he told the 186 applauding members of the People's Council.

Cenarrusa mum on writ

BOISE (UPI) — Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa has not yet commented on a Fourth District Court order requiring him to accept recall petitions against Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello.

Counsel for the Pocatello group seeking to recall him, Stanley D. Crow, Boise, obtained a court order requiring Cenarrusa to accept the petitions or appear in court June 10 to show cause why he has not done so.

The writ was issued by District Court Judge Alfred C. Hagan. The action was brought by Paula West, Pocatello, a member of the recall group.

The writ was presented in the Attorney General's office. The court order was obtained after Cenarrusa — acting on the attorney general's advice — refused to accept the petitions submitted May 20 and re-submitted June 4.

The petitions were rejected when first submitted because 2,230 of the 2,359 signatures failed to list a post office address, as required by law.

In a statement Friday, Crow said Park and Cenarrusa were "making much ado about nothing because it is absolutely impossible that anyone could have been confused or should have had any doubt where the signatures of the petition lived."

All signers, he said, lived within District 34, which Miss McDermott represents.

Murphy predicts hearing

BOISE (UPI) Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy predicts that Idahoans will "hear a lot more" on the stream channel protection issue at the next session of the 42nd legislature.

Murphy told a panel of newsmen on a television show videotaped for release Saturday that rules and regulations prepared for the law "have satisfied some but there are a lot of people still unhappy."

"We'll hear a lot more on this particular issue," he said, speaking of the next session of the legislature.

Meantime, Murphy also said: He has supporters in 26 counties "willing to put together an organization on my behalf" should he decide to run for governor next year, a decision he will make some time this fall.

Recall of public officials should be used only for "malfeasance, misfeasance, nonfeasance or conviction of a crime."

Further Republican candidates for public office will include former Reps. Terry Crapo of Idaho Falls and P.K. Harwood of Caldwell and former Sen. Wayne Kidwell of Boise.

World consumption of synthetic rubber is about 5 million tons annually, says National Geographic.

Firm moves to Boise

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — Hewlett-Packard, a major electronic equipment producer, has announced agreement to buy 150 acres near Boise, Idaho, for a new manufacturing plant to begin operation late in 1975.

William E. Terry, a company vice-president, said Friday the plant would be used by Hewlett-Packard's Data Systems Division, headquartered in Cupertino, Calif.

The division designs and manufactures minicomputers and systems, software and related equipment for use in education, industry, business and science.

Andrus says Gem energy adequate

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's governor says after hearing discussions at the National Governors Conference that the energy crisis situation is "not so difficult as we were earlier led to believe."

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told a Boise news conference Friday that he believes the energy supply for Idaho will be ample this year. Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy has suggested that Andrus create — by executive order — an energy council in case of an energy crisis in the state in the near future.

"Uncertainly an appropriate and timely suggestion," Andrus told newsmen. He said the possibility of an energy shortage is being discussed "at all levels" of government.

But he said after discussions at the National Governors Conference he believes "the situation this year is not so difficult as we were earlier led to believe."

Murphy recommended the creation of an energy council "to advise the state on appropriate measures that can be taken to ease the impact of such a crisis on the citizens of Idaho and to assure the continuation of vital services."

Andrus pointed out, however, the Petroleum Institute figures show the production in the past month as five per cent greater than fuel consumption.

BSC plans arts center

BOISE (UPI) — The State Board of Education is scheduled to meet late next week in Merrell and at that time plans for a $1 million arts and humanities center for Boise State will be presented.

The proposed center on the BSC campus would seat 500 persons, and would be located next to the Student Union.

School officials say it will provide for the needs of students interested in the arts and humanities.

Boys State governor vetoes abortion measure

BOISE (UPI) — In mock political action, Boys State Gov. John Gamboa has vetoed a bill which would have allowed unwed mothers to have abortions during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

The proposal also would have allowed a mother with three living children an abortion if she did not wish to bear another child.

Gamboa vetoed the bill despite a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision saying states cannot prohibit abortions during the first 13 weeks of pregnancy.

"I vetoed that bill because it gives the unwed mother the easy way to get away with something without being penalized," Gamboa said.

"The woman who already has children should have thought of it before she conceived."

The Boys State governor signed bills which would hike the cost of out-of-state hunting licenses and to increase and expand vocational education programs in Idaho.

Meantime, the Gem Boys State Supreme Court acquitted counselors accused of the "Benewah Bugging" incident earlier this week in which microphones were planted in the convention room of the Silver Party.

Counselors who planned the bugging as an educational exercise for the boys were accused of bribery, burglary, forgery, interception of oral communication and conspiracy.

Other Valley county receipts were: Blaine, up 7.2 per cent; Camas, up 22.9 per cent; Cassia, up 2.4 per cent; Lincoln, down 2.5 per cent; Minidoka, down 3.2 per cent; and Twin Falls, nearly constant with an increase of 0.2 per cent.

The state figures showed a possible supply softness in shipments for March, the most recent month for which figures are available.

Compared to March, 1972, gas receipts of 40.7 million gallons in Idaho, the March 1973, receipts were 39.8 million, down 2.7 per cent. This March, however, was 19 per cent above the March figures two years ago.

Industry spokesmen were quick to say that there is a shortage of gas despite the increased shipments to the state.
Doug Bean, executive secretary of the Idaho Petroleum Council, a trade association funded by contributions from 12 major oil companies, said increased demand in Idaho "more than offset any increase in gasoline supplies coming into the state during the first quarter of 1973."
"We are definitely in a shortage and just now hitting the three heaviest months of the year," Bean said Friday. "August will be the most critical."

Besides saying in March there was a decrease in Idaho supply compared to March, 1972, Bean quoted state vehicle registration figures to back up his claim of offsetting user demand.

He said passenger car and pickup registrations in Idaho increased 7.8 per cent from 1971 to 1972. Motorcycles were up 12 per cent in 1972, he said, while farm and commercial trucks under eight tons showed an 8.7 per cent gain. He said he had no figures on heavier vehicles.

Bean said new cars require more gasoline due to pollution devices and increased luxury features. In addition, he said, pleasure boats and other recreational vehicles were using more gasoline.

Bean said national production of gasoline in the week ending May 25 totaled 46.6 million barrels. "The refineries are setting new production records each week," he said.

"Anybody who says this (the gasoline shortage) is some sort of sinister plot," said Bean, "is just making foolish speculation. There's not any truth to it at all. The oil companies have wanted to build refineries, they've been turned down. They've wanted to bring that pipeline in from Alaska. It's that sweet crude that American refineries have been built to process. Suddenly, it's a sin just to try to serve the public."

Bean said he was startled by a letter from Rep. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, which called the oil shortage a "Fascist-like gentlemen's agreement" between the government and the big oil monopolies.

Symms made the allegation in response to a letter from Twin Falls independent oil dealer Joe Clements which alleged that the gasoline shortage was a move by the major oil companies to squeeze out independent dealers.

"The government has cooperated in depressing prices and holding down supplies while allowing the big companies to act as rationers for what we do have on hand," Symms' letter said. "The little guy always loses in a situation like this — 'little guys' like the small business and the entire American public!"

Bean said, "That doesn't sound like Steve."
"There's no plot," he said. Bean said there are 230,000 service stations in the country and "there's not a major or a minor who's got all he wants or all he could sell."

Nonetheless, Bean said there was no need for motorists to hoard gasoline. "The situation can be described as serious but by no means desperate," he said. "We're not recommending that anybody cancel his vacation."

Peter Hirschburg, president of Fletcher Oil Co., Boise, agreed with the interpretation that demand exceeds any increase in first quarter gasoline supplies in Idaho.

"If the entries of total gasoline have increased by 5 per cent, then probably what you'll find is that consumption has increased more than 5 per cent," he said.

"How do you know that the demand today isn't 20 per cent above normal? Every one of our service stations, if they had all the gas they wanted, would be selling at 20 per cent more than last year."

Hirschburg said he thought the gas shortage was due to crude petroleum being used to make heating oils during this past winter's record cold weather instead of making gasoline. He also blamed natural gas shortages, increased consumption by new cars and use of less valuable crude oils by refineries.

He said his firm's supplies have been cut from every source and average overall about 60 per cent of what he sold last year.

"It's all going to fall on the motorist," he said, "because everybody else has priority."

Hirschburg also said that the gas shortage in Idaho was not such a problem during the first quarter as it is now. He said supply figures for this spring might reveal a different picture.

"This shortage doesn't come as a surprise to anybody in the oil business except service stations who just wouldn't believe it," he said.

TF allocations

TWIN FALLS — A random sample of Twin Falls service stations revealed the following gasoline quotas in effect:
Phillips 66 — 90 per cent of last year's sales on a month-for-month basis.
American Oil — 100 per cent of last year's sales month for month.
Atlantic Richfield — Less than 70 per cent of last year's sales month for month. Exact amount not revealed.
Union 76 — 80 per cent of last year's sales month for month.
Conoco — 100 per cent of last year's sales.
United Oil — 100 per cent of last year's sales.
Husky — 90 per cent of last year's sales.
Lynch Oil (Independent) — 75 per cent of last year's sales.
Texaco — On allocation, percentage not disclosed.

No takers for TF gas posted at $1.49 gallon

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls service station operator who said he could not get his supplier to deliver additional gasoline raised his price to $1.49 per gallon Friday.

He said as of that day he had only about 100 gallons of his allowed quota to last 10 days so he decided nobody would pay $1.50 for gasoline and put a stop to sales by boosting his price.

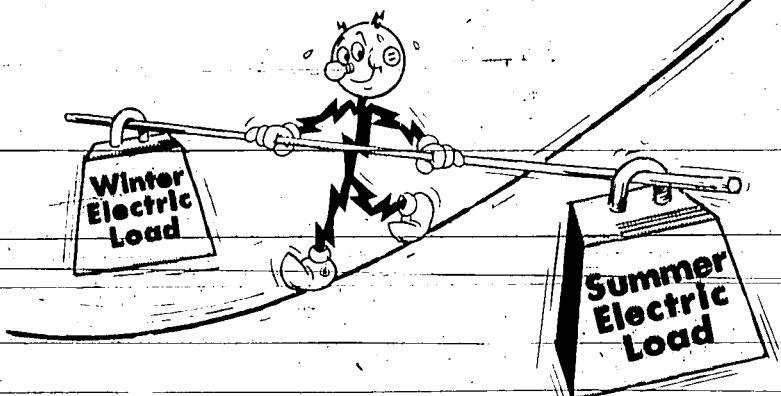

Don Christian, owner of Don's Conoco, on Main Ave. W., said he had plenty of storage and believed there is plenty of gasoline available but he is being required to hold to a quota of about 25 per cent below what he would normally sell.

"If I sell more than the 100 gallons I have left it will be coming out of my next month's supply," he said.

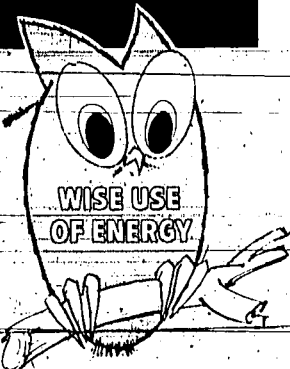

Christian said he didn't have any buyers. "People pull in and drive out again," he said.

Workshop on music opens

TWIN FALLS — A music workshop for elementary classroom teachers will be conducted this week in the drama room of the Fine Arts building at the College of Southern Idaho.

Mrs. Grace Nash, Scottsdale, Ariz., nationally known clinician and author, will conduct the workshop which is entitled "Music for Today" and sponsored by the Twin Falls School District.

According to Ruth Turner, one of the Twin Falls elementary music supervisors, Mrs. Nash is one of the foremost exponents of the creative approach to music education. She holds A. B. and M. M. degrees in music and has recently studied the Orff, Kodaly and Laban techniques of teaching classroom music.

This summer, she will present workshops in Utah, Rhode Island, Indiana, New York, Oregon, Arizona and Michigan.

Facilities at the drama room limit enrollment to 50 persons, Mrs. Turner said, and the class is filled. The sessions will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

She said teachers and music specialists from throughout Magic Valley and other Idaho communities have enrolled for the class, which will be accredited by the University of Idaho.

Contents of the class will include methods of using movement, speech, singing and instruments in classroom settings to help children understand the language of music. Ideas for using music as an aid to academic learning also will be presented.

To insure that university credit be given for the course, the workshop has to be under the auspice of the continuing education department, Mrs. Turner said, and Marvin Glascock, CSI director of adult education, has assisted with arrangements.

Delegates pack

Annual tea

TWIN FALLS — Annual Flag Day tea, sponsored by six patriotic women's organizations, will be held Thursday at the DAV hall.

All veteran organizations and their friends are invited.

Jean Mizer Todhunter, and her husband, Doc Todhunter, Sun Valley, will present the program.

Refreshments will be served.

TF County 4-H youths at meet

TWIN FALLS — Twenty Twin Falls county 4-H club members left Saturday for Moscow to attend the annual Idaho 4-H Club Congress.

Patricia Maughan, county home extension agent from Twin Falls, accompanied the delegation. They will join more than 500 4-H club members from throughout the state for the week-long Congress program.

The Congress is a statewide educational program for 4-H club members and will include a series of assemblies, workshops, classes and training in new 4-H skills.

Miss Maughan said special events of the week will include a barbecue fashion show, folk and square dances, 4-H talent show, party and election of new state officers.

The first sessions begin this morning at 8 a.m. with the opening Congress assembly. Special church services were also scheduled today with a vesper service and theme of "Togetherness."

13 attend Civitan seminar

TWIN FALLS — Thirteen high school youths from throughout Magic Valley are attending the Civitan Youth Seminar in Great Falls, Mont., this week.

Purpose of the annual event, according to Henry Cardinale, president-elect of the Twin Falls club, is to acquaint youth leaders with current issues of national importance. They are selected for the trip by high school administrators, based upon scholastic performance and leadership.

The area delegates include Wendy Sue Petty, Karen L. Cook, Carolyn Whitehead, William Sweet and Antonio Davila, all Twin Falls; David Fulmer, and Daniel Paul Hunt, both Kimberly; Richard B. Fletcher and Sally Nelson, both Burley; Edda Jean Lancaster, Hansen; Bryan Howerton, Buhl, and Allen Pierce, Filer.

Jeannette Ahlmi, Buhl, who was a delegate last year, has volunteered to accompany the group as a junior advisor. Cardinale said, Carl Scheele, retiring president of the local club, will also accompany the youths.

Sponsors include Mountain Bell; Parry Robertson, Daly and Larson, Cains, Inc., Twin Falls; Bank and Trust, Intermountain Gas Co., Al Black, Bud Chenes, Idaho Power Co., and Pennywise Drug, all Twin Falls; Asgrow Seed Co., Filer; Farmers National Bank and Idaho First National Bank, both Buhl; Ponderosa Inn, Burley; Rogers, in Burley; Rupert, Buhl and Twin Falls; Bryant Packing and J. R. Simplot, both Burley; Professional Answering Service, Twin Falls; Idaho First National Bank, and Max's Clover Farm, both Filer, and Filer Mutual Telephone Co.

Nursing course to begin soon

TWIN FALLS — Margrethe Lyngholm, national nursing representative of the American Red Cross, will be in Twin Falls Tuesday through Thursday to conduct a course for home nursing instructors. Classes will be held from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the College of Southern Idaho building on Shoshone Street South. Persons interested should contact the Twin Falls office of American Red Cross. Class enrollment will be limited and there are now 17 instructors registered for classes.

Murtaugh girl injured at dump

MURTAUGH — A 4-year-old Twin Falls girl was injured in a freak accident at the Murtaugh Dump Saturday morning.

Sheriff's officers said Stacy Vaux, 4, was in the family automobile with the motor running while her mother was getting some foam rubber from the dump.

The mother, Mrs. Lewis

Hatch, Twin Falls, told officers she believed the little girl bumped the gear shift while attempting to get out of the car and put the car in reverse gear. She was hit by the door as she got out of the vehicle and knocked to the ground.

The vehicle ran into a pile of rocks, but was not badly damaged.

Gooding dinner

GOODING — The Gooding Senior Citizens Center potluck dinner will be held Monday 5 p.m. at the War Memorial Hall.

Elmer Annis, Twin Falls, will present a slide show of Idaho areas. Marlene Lees, director of the center, announced $165 was earned from the Saturday rummage sale and a contribution from the Ministerial Association for $129 was also received.

These funds will be used toward purchase of a vehicle to transport senior citizens to doctors offices, on shopping trips and other travel services.

Bridge winners

TWIN FALLS — The Friday night Duplicate Bridge Club met at the Episcopal Ferrish Hall.

Winners were Mr. and Mrs. John Hahn, first; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Butcher and Mr. and Mrs. Kay E. Rait, tied for second and third. Tied for fourth and fifth were Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Don Hahn.

Game aids program

TWIN FALLS — The 1973 Easter Seal Magic Valley All-star Basketball game this year has increased revenue for the program by $3,300.

Ruth M. Peterson, coordinator for the Magic Valley campaign, said this year's all-star game was an outstanding success in the efforts to assist the crippled children of Idaho.

Idaho court affirms verdict

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court Friday unanimously affirmed the conviction of a Twin Falls man on a charge of resisting a police officer.

John H. Richardson has been charged with resisting a police officer by means of violence — a felony arising out of an altercation at a Twin Falls restaurant in August, 1971. Richardson was committed to the state board of corrections for a term not to exceed five years.

Unhappy, he argued that the trial court erred in refusing to grant a continuance to enable him to obtain a material witness unavailability absent, among other points.

Burley will host confab

BURLEY — Members of the Idaho Chapter, National Association of Postmasters, will convene in Burley Tuesday for a three-day annual convention.

Martel W. Thomas, Swan Lake, president of the Idaho chapter, will conduct the meeting in the Ponderosa Inn. Highlights of the convention will include an address Wednesday at 7 p.m. by William J. Sullivan, western regional postmaster-general, San Francisco. The western postal region covers 13 states. Sullivan will address the Wednesday dinner meeting.

Robert C. Greenburg, postmaster, Salt Lake City, in charge of the Salt Lake District which includes the southern half of Idaho, will address a luncheon meeting Wednesday noon. He will also conduct a seminar during the afternoon for postmasters.

Edward G. Coll, executive director of the National Association of Postmasters, Washington, D.C., will give the opening address during the convention smorgasbord at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

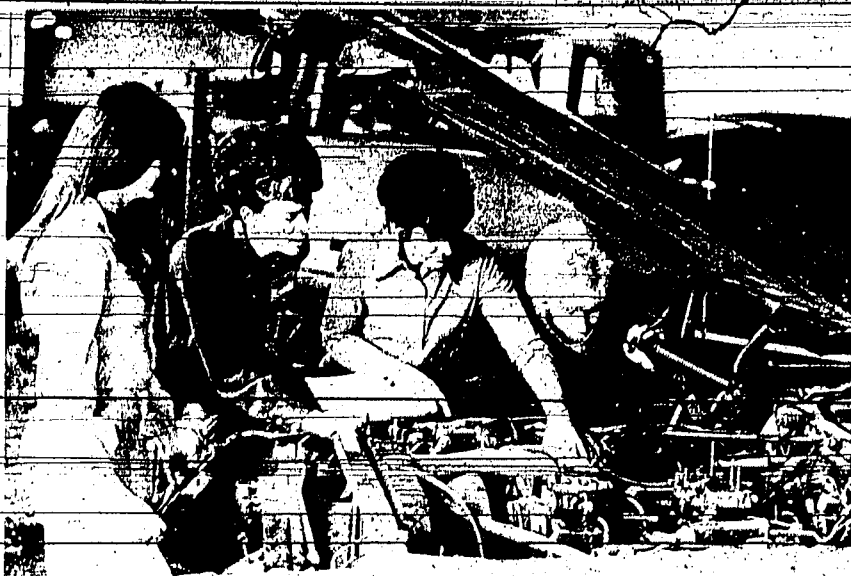

Other speakers include Paul Garthwaite, public relations chairman for the national association. He will speak during the Tuesday night banquet and will install newly elected officers. The delegates will elect chapter officers Tuesday afternoon.

John E. Trimming, sectional center manager and postmaster, Pocatello, a former president of the Idaho chapter and former national committee member, will speak during the luncheon Thursday noon. He is also a long time editor of the chapter publication for Idaho.

John Rost, sectional center manager-postmaster, Boise, and Coll and Garthwaite will also conduct seminars during the convention program.

Florence Kay, Ueyburn, postmaster, is chairman of the hospitality committee with other members including Postmaster Elmer Foster, Paul; Postmaster Margene Alton, Oakley. Convention host is Joe Lambert, Burley postmaster.

Other Idaho chapter officers in addition to Thomas, include John R. Wels, St. Maries, first vice-president; Alvin L. Funk, Aberdeen, second vice president; Mildred E. Snell, Cambridge, third vice president; Howard Buchanan, Moscow, fourth vice president; Earl Wright, Jr., Murlough, secretary-treasurer, and Lloyd Sleight, Georgetown, editor of the Gem State Postmaster.

14 learn about auto operation through Women on Wheels project

By DICK HUGHES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Women's Lib recently hit Twin Falls in the form of a four-week course to acquaint women with the basic mechanical operation of automobiles.

Fourteen women participated in the "Women-On-Wheels" program sponsored by Chrysler Motors Corp. through Bob Reese Motor Co. in Twin Falls.

The instructor of the program, Del Harper, Bob Reese service manager, said the course was not designed to make the women into "master mechanics."

"We're attempting more to teach them the basic mechanics of how an automobile works and what components go where, so if they ever have trouble, they'll know what should be done," he said.

"When Chrysler suggested the program, I was lukewarm about it, but after the first meeting I was impressed with how sincere the gals were and how quickly they learned."

The class met on Tuesday nights for four weeks, during May. The basic areas covered were the engine, electrical system, fuel system, and "safety, trouble free driving."

Harper said that the dealership paid for the expenses of the programs, furnished the tools both for the training sessions and when the women worked out of class on their own cars, and the parts for the training session.

At the last three sessions, Harper "bugged" an auto and step-by-step demonstrated what the problems were and how to correct them. "Some of the gals found the problems before I had explained them," he said.

Control sought on FBI

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Acting FBI Director William D. Ruckelshaus said Friday the legislative and executive branches of the government should exercise greater control over the FBI, and that both should re-examine their concept of the agency's role.

"The necessity to America of our major federal law enforcement agency is not exceeding a wise exercise of its power is too important to leave to the judgment of one man," Ruckelshaus said during commencement exercises at Ohio State University.

"There must be effective oversight of all FBI activities," he said. "This essential review and check should come from both the executive and legislative branches of our government."

However, both branches have failed to adequately provide this review, Ruckelshaus said.

Weis Securities probe starting

By JOHN H. ALLAN
New York Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The Securities Investor Protection Corp., the 2½-year-old government-industry agency that's designed to come to the aid of customers of brokerage houses that go bust, has just taken on its biggest case: Weis Securities, Inc.

Early this week, the agency sent out claim forms to some 55,000 customers of the New York City brokerage house that was put into liquidation a week and a half ago. Edward S. Redington, the trustee who is liquidating Weis, was preparing to mail out securities, Dyrton D. Woodside, chairman of SIPC, said in an interview last Tuesday.

SIPC clearly is aware of criticism that it has moved slowly in the past. Its efforts to settle Weis Securities claims more quickly shows how seriously it wants to eliminate this sore spot.

In defense of SIPC, several things must be said. For one, the federal law that established the agency prevents it from moving faster. For another, it sometimes deals with people who lie and cheat and steal, and so it cannot process claims carelessly.

Creative

TWIN FALLS — A three credit seminar in creative writing, English 611, will be offered through the Idaho State University Continuing Education program, beginning June 19.

Dr. James Belson will be the instructor for the class which will meet from 6 to 10:30 p.m. Tuesdays for eight weeks in Room 114 at the Shields Academic building at College of Southern Idaho.

This is primarily a graduate course, but the credit may be applied toward a degree, according to Marvin Glascock, CSI director of continuing education. Additional information may be obtained from Glascock by calling 733-9551, extension 221.

Church outlines education goals

TWIN FALLS — Educational goals and views of the LDS Church were outlined Thursday night during a banquet meeting in the Holiday Inn.

Speakers for the event included Neil A. Maxwell, commissioner of church education, Salt Lake City, and Dr. Henry B. Eyring, president of Ricks College, Rexburg.

About 200 persons attended the banquet and program with Lloyd Hamilton, president of the LDS Twin Falls Stake, as master of ceremonies and Eugene Sturgill as general chairman. The program was sponsored by the Development Council of Ricks College.

Maxwell told the group the many changes in higher education around the nation have not altered the goals and conduct at the LDS Church-operated college at Rexburg.

"The 1960's were suicidal for higher education but throughout this time, Ricks has like a rock, never losing its sense of values although changes in the curriculum were made," he said.

Maxwell heads the church educational program reaching 205,000 students in 50 countries. "It takes courage to customize education," Maxwell said, "responding differently to the needs of different people."

Dr. Eyring, a graduate of University of Utah with masters and doctors degrees from Harvard, said he is most frequently asked how large Ricks College will eventually be and when it will be a four-year school.

"Time will answer these questions but most important is that Ricks College with its unique resources provides the frame framework for excellence and in time Ricks will be known as the most excellent of junior colleges."

"Brigham Young," Dr. Eyring said, "defined education as the power to think clearly, the power to act well in the world's work and the power to appreciate life."

"Keys to think clearly," the speaker said, "are to be confident that we are able to think clearly, know what truth is and have a sense of values in human affairs."

"These keys are provided at Ricks College through a nurturing faculty which measures its success by the changes which have been made in the lives of the students and through pilot programs designed to foster the ability to think clearly," he said.

"Everyone wants to be accountable but no one wants to be measured," he said.

The program on church education programs also featured films of educational facilities in other countries.

A film was also shown on Ricks College and Brigham Young University in Utah. With 1,000 faculty members and 13 colleges, BYU provides 25,000 students from throughout the world an opportunity for education.

Special music for the program was provided by Everett Rice, Boise, organist, and a trio, The Peppermint Sunshine Trio, from Ricks College.

Denver accident

US teen-agers remain unemployed

By N. Y. Times Service
NEW YORK — Despite the booming national economy there is a decidedly mixed outlook this summer for young men and women seeking employment during the months of July and August.

The closer one gets to the "inner city" or the rural farm belt, the more one finds joblessness. Not surprisingly, the addition to the labor force in these areas of uncounted teen-agers during the summer months compounds the problem.

Last month, for example, the nation's jobless rate was 5 per cent. The jobless rate for teen-agers, however, was 16.4 per cent nationwide and as high as 35 per cent in some communities.

One problem this summer is the disappearance or realignment of various federally supported programs. The best known case is "The Neighborhood Youth Corps," a Department of Labor program that is being phased out by the Nixon administration.

Sarah Austin, vice president and director of field operations for the urban coalition, said this week of this summer's youth employment prospects: "There is a good deal of anxiety in view of the federal cutbacks. So far there is no firm evidence that the private sector can fill the gap."

Richard C. Mottu, vice president for youth activities of the National Alliance of Businessmen, pointed out that in view of the federal cutbacks the NAB's national target this year was 175,000 jobs and "we expect to surpass that."

Elmer Verneer, administrative assistant to the governor, explained this week that if the legislature agreed on a bill, the special summer work crews of youths 18 or older would be at work shortly rebuilding damaged railroad tracks throughout the state.

He explained that heavy grain shipments had taxed existing railroad ties and tracks.

Klassen predicts postal increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen said today current negotiations for a new contract with postal workers probably will lead to increases in postal rates, but he predicted a strike would be avoided.

"In my judgement, I don't believe we will have a work stoppage except for perhaps some isolated, irresponsible action on the part of some individuals," Klassen said.

But he said "very substantial" union demands were likely to bring about postal rate increases. "They are the usual type, and I am sure that this will cost us substantial dollars, and if it does, the future obviously will bring about further rate increases," Klassen said.

Klassen was interviewed on the Chamber of Commerce radio program "What's the Issue."

Auto maker warns British

By Chicago Daily News
LONDON — Chrysler Corp. has become the third large American company to warn that it will cut off further capital investment in Britain unless its workers quit disrupting production with frequent strikes and shoddy workmanship.

Chrysler's hard-hitting warning came in a letter to all hourly-paid employees in Britain yesterday from Gilbert Hunt, managing director of the company's British subsidiary.

The Chrysler ultimatum echoed a similar warning issued two years ago by Henry Ford II after a nine-week strike closed down all Ford Motor Co. plants in Britain.

And just a couple of months ago, Brooks McCormick, chairman of International Harvester, warned that labor difficulties could affect his company's plans for capital expansion in Britain.

Hunt's letter was triggered by a walkout of 4,500 workers at Chrysler's Ryton plant, which has halted production for a week.

The immediate reaction of labor union officials was that the letter amounted to a threat and might serve only to further anger the workers and prolong the strike.

And this morning the Communist daily newspaper, the Morning Star, predictably jumped into the battle with an editorial calling for Chrysler in Britain to be "nationalized at the earliest possible moment."

That might be laughed off except that the opposition Labor Party is right now engaged in an intramural fight on including further nationalization in its program for the next election.

The party's left wing is calling for nationalization of the 25 most important industrial companies in Britain to the severe embarrassment of the moderate wing.

It is understood that Chrysler has planned to spend about $125 million in capital investment in Britain over the next five years or so.

But Hunt's letter warned the workers that he has "no intention of recommending or approving any further capital investments" until the present strike ends and until normal working is maintained for a "reasonable period."

Post-war Britain has acquired a worldwide reputation for the sorry state of its labor relations.

And Hunt in his letter spelled out how the situation has affected Chrysler specifically this year.

In the first quarter of this year, he said, the Ryton plant alone has lost production of 3,961 vehicles and revenue of nearly $7 million because of internal plant disputes.

At all Chrysler plants in Britain over the last six months labor disputes have cost lost production of nearly 17,000 cars, or about 17 per cent of planned production.

The latest dispute began after 500 body shop workers, described as "disgruntled" over an earlier dispute, began producing poor quality work that led the company to stop assembly lines five times.

The workers claimed the poor quality work resulted from their being given poor quality parts to work with.

Now union officials say the men will not return to work until Hunt's "threat" is lifted.

Pain of arthritis relieved by needles

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Acupuncture relieves the pain of arthritis but apparently does not help get rid of the condition, according to a Chinese-Canadian researcher.

with rheumatoid arthritis of the knees. One knee of each patient was treated by acupuncture, and the other by steroid drugs, Man said.

Dr. S.-G. Man, director of the acupuncture research unit at the University of Manitoba, presented his findings today to the 800 scientists attending the medical meeting of the Arthritis Foundation.

Half the patients were given correct acupuncture treatment, said Man, whose father is an acupuncturist. Man went to medical school in Taiwan and also studied acupuncture there and in Hong Kong.

"Our study shows that acupuncture relieves pain but it probably will not alter the inflammatory manifestations of the disease," Man said.

"Pain relief is, however, terribly important."

The study involved 20 patients

TF youth goes on famed route

TWIN FALLS — A canoe trip following the general route of the Lewis and Clark expedition of 1806 is the current project of a Twin Falls youth.

Clay Asher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Asher, left this week for the 3,000 mile, five month journey of the famous explorers who returned to St. Louis, Mo., after failing to discover a Northwest Passage across America.

Also on the trip will be Robert Miller, Albuquerque, N. M., who has worked as a guide in Quetico Provincial Park,

Seniors get awards

MOSCOW — Two Magic Valley high school graduates have received scholarships from the University of Idaho.

William T. Hata, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Hata, Shoshone, received a Bank of Idaho scholarship. A Shoshone High School graduate, he plans to major in business law.

Rosemary Donnelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Donnelly, Twin Falls, received the A. W. Fahrwald scholarship.

A 1973 graduate of Twin Falls High School, she plans to major in pre-physical therapy.

Canada; Mike Cochran, Grand Junction Colo., former Marine medic in the Vietnam War, who plans to sketch scenes from the expeditions, and Gary Kinsey, Independence, Mo., journalist, who will keep a diary record of the expedition and take pictures along the way.

A Scotch terrier and a dachshund will accompany the band who will paddle two 14-foot kayaks up the Columbia River to the Clearwater, then walk across 300 miles over the Selway-Bitterroot-Wilderness Area, and the Bitterroot, Salmon, and Behrhead National Forests to the headwaters of the Missouri River above Great Falls, Mont. From that point they will head downstream to the Mississippi and St. Louis, Asher said.

Asher joined the expedition at the request of Miller, a friend he met on a Snake River Area Boy Scout Council canoeing expedition in Minnesota last year.

He is an Eagle Scout from Troop 69 of the First Baptist Church, Twin Falls, and a 1973 graduate of Twin Falls High School.

The four modern explorers contributed about $400 apiece to the expedition, Asher said. Some equipment was donated by companies for advertising.

Trip set

TWIN FALLS — Senior citizens planning to take part in a Thursday trip to Bruneau Sand Dunes are asked to contact the Senior Citizens Center by Tuesday morning.

The trip in an air conditioned bus will begin at 8 a.m. Thursday at the Sears' parking lot. Persons should bring a sack lunch and should make reservations by calling 734-5084.

4-H girl will tour Europe

MALTA — Ann Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Pierce, Malta, is a member of the 1973 Citizen Ambassador Program for 4-H and other youth.

She will spend 42 days gaining a deeper understanding of how people live in several countries of Europe and in Russia as she tours historical and educational sites and meets with youth groups. She will live with European host families during her time in Europe.

Miss Pierce was selected on the basis of recommendations and personal application. She is a 1973 graduate of Raft River High School where she has been active in school affairs and has been listed in Who's Who of High School Students of America. She has been awarded an Associated Students of ISU freshman honorary scholarship for outstanding achievements. She has been active in Cassia County 4-H work and had the reserve champion steer last year.

Nevada hiker ends off course

JACKPOT, Nev. — A Jackpot bartender is back at work after a frustrated attempt to hike across rugged country from here to Jarbidge.

Michael Smith, 32, who weighs in at 235 pounds, was spotted by a motorist Thursday as he was coming down a mountainside near a back road and ended his journey riding into Elko, considerably off course.

The hiker had set out Monday morning carrying a 35-pound pack. Basing his estimates on a compass reading of 41 degrees, he figured his destination at about 50 miles, according to Carl Hayden, of Hagerman and Jackpot, who was to pick him up Friday morning in Jarbidge.

Hayden said he received a phone call early Friday telling him Smith was in Elko.

Smith, who considers hiking his hobby, lived on dehydrated food. He told Hayden he had stopped at what he said was Salt Creek, filled his canteen, but the next creek proved to be dry. Since his map indicated the next water was 11 miles, he returned to Salt Creek.

He then headed west and came to a deep gorge, estimated at 100 feet deep, which caused him to veer off to the south.

When he was picked up he was about 20 miles from Jackpot "as the crow flies" Smith was a staff sergeant in the army for 10 years before going to work at Cactus Pete's 20 months ago. He previously hiked 73 miles in Canada but over established trails.

Prison terms lengthen

By Newhouse News Service
WASHINGTON — A little noticed side effect of law and order demands has been longer prison terms from judges conforming to the popular trend, enforcement officials say.

Meanwhile, penologists agree generally the more years behind bars the less chance a convict has to emerge as a good emotional or mental risk in society.

Assuming law and order retains high priority and jail terms continue to lengthen, what is the released-prisoner prognosis for the future?

Crim. British sociologists Stanley Cohen and Laurie Taylor report in "Psychological Survival," based on several years' study of long-term, maximum-security convicts in a British prison.

Messing their findings with the latest data available in America and other western countries, the authors declare: "Certainly (those programs) now provided for long-term prisoners do not inspire much confidence, and if, a mere adaptation of them to long-termers is planned, they can hardly deal with the social and psychological 'bonds' the men will face as they resurface."

Though very little is known about the effects on humans of long-term imprisonment, Cohen and Taylor say weighty official pronouncements continued to be issued on the subject and frequently officialdom adopts untried programs "with a speed and enthusiasm best understandable in terms of current demand."

Taylor, University of Leicester authority on delinquency, alienation and sexual offenders, and Cohen, Essex University expert on little to disturb the political and legal structure.

And they quote without "surprise" a British ex-convict turned penal reformer, Frank Norman, who wrote that a proposal suggesting long-term prisoners "be quietly eliminated" was received with "enthusiastic support from some sections of society."

Taylor added: "Perhaps it is a more realistic solution than incarcerating men in granite tombs for years on end."

Cohen and Taylor aimed keep their mental balance in the face of a slow-moving calendar. These included: — Elaborate planning for escape, though chances were dim, and subjects frequently had no REAL intent at a breakout.

— "Campaigning," which translated into deliberate moaning, niggling, complaining and making a nuisance of oneself. A variation was "leaking" to the press about "intolerable conditions" when opportunity afforded. Results hopefully would add up to a break in the routine.

— Strikes, of short or long duration. Though any changes for the better wrung from authorities were a gain, again a break in the deadly monotony appeared the real aim. Hunger strikes, either single or collective, hopefully would result not only in a routine break, but also bring (eventually) better food for a time as a restorative, and attention from the press.

"But even if (such) changes were made," they write, "... they can hardly alter the fundamental nature of long-term imprisonment. The experience is meant to be punitive and depriving; the confinement is meant to be total."

Mind Your Money

Peter Weaver

This may be the year Americans actually buy more bikes than cars. Bikes provide inexpensive transportation (no gasoline shortages), they don't pollute, they keep you healthy and they don't take up much space.

The bike boom is being fed by adult buyers who are turning to log-powered two-wheelers for commuting and sport. Many adults haven't been on a bike for years and are often confused by all the funny gearshifts and brakes.

As a retread cyclist you should aim for the simplest model that will satisfy your transportation needs. You should be able to get a good bike for $100 or less.

All too many bicyclists converts rush out to get a complicated racing bike that has a 10-speed gearshift, dropped handlebars and a price that's up in the hundreds of dollars.

If you plan to use your bike for commuting and occasional weekend jaunts over relatively short distances with no hills, your best bet is a three-speed "commuter" model with upright handlebars, mud guards, a comfortable saddle and old-fashioned coaster brakes. You don't need a front-wheel brake.

As a commuter you'll probably hit rain or wet streets. Water on the wheels of a bike equipped with caliper or hand brakes knocks out your braking power. A bike with only a three-speed gearshift can use a coaster brake which gives good stopping power in wet weather.

The main drawback of a three-speed bike is the fact that its gear system isn't efficient enough to get you up most hills. For this you need a five- or 10-speed gear system. But these higher multiple gears can't take a coaster brake on the rear wheel and must use dual hand brakes.

If your commuting trip involves distance and hills, you'll need a higher multiple-gear bike even though it won't stop well on wet streets. In wet weather, you'll just have to ride more cautiously, maybe even repeatedly applying the hand brakes to squeeze water out of the pads as they press against the wheels.

For the novice who is faced with hills, a five-speed bike with an easy to use gearshifting device on the handlebar grip might make a good compromise. Huffman makes a five-speed bike with a handlebar grip shift and you get a surprisingly wide range of gear ratios. Sears and

Murray-Ohio have similar grip-shift systems on five-speed models but you don't get quite as wide a range of gear ratios.

After breaking in for a year or so with these simpler, lower geared bikes, you may be tempted to move up to a lighter, higher geared model that can take you on much longer trips with a minimum of effort.

These sportier bikes come with dropped handlebars, a narrow seat (which necessarily and comfortably in the forward position) and "rat trap" foot holders that give you better weight distribution and more efficient use of your legs.

Whatever kind of bike you get, be sure to buy it from an established bicycle dealer who has a repair shop and experienced mechanics. Make sure your bike is properly adjusted before taking it home.

Also, make sure your bike is the right size. With the seat elevated around two inches, you should be able to have one foot on the upraised pedal with the ball of the other foot touching the ground.

A "minimum" guarantee should cover defects in the frame. Some dealers will give guarantees "providing for a 'break-in' period with free adjustments."

Handy equipment: lights for night riding (especially lights that attach to your legs to warn motorists), tire pump, bell or horn, flask for liquid refreshments, adjustable wrench and tire repair kit.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The lead of the fourth best of your longest and strongest suit against no-trump contracts is something bridge players have been taught from time immemorial.

Some modernists have been getting away from it but the experts stick to it consistently except that they temper all rules with common sense. One bit of this common sense is that you make a deceptive defensive play when they can't fool your partner and can fool declarer.

West's lead of the four of hearts is an example of this deception. He has three aces and two jacks and all his partner can hold is some patience and perseverance. He wasn't dealt any high cards

South wins the heart lead and knocks out West's ace of clubs. West plays the ace and six of hearts. Declarer wins with dummy's queen and cashes three clubs.

West discards the nine and jack of diamonds. He doesn't bother to signal because it doesn't matter one bit.

South can count the usual eight tricks. Should he try to get ninth in spades or diamonds?

He is sure West is concealing the deuce of hearts. He does not know who has the 10.

He will probably try the spades and wind up behind the eight ball.

Judge says court shouldn't run park service

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Federal Judge Willis W. Ritter says he does not think the court has any business telling the National Park Service how to run the Grand Canyon.

The judge also told a group of river tour promoters Friday he thinks the Park Service should do everything possible to preserve the ecology of the canyon.

He then refused to suspend National Park Service limits on the number of tours allowed down the Colorado River.

"Why should I stick my oar into the management of a national park," said the judge, who earlier this year stopped the Bureau of Reclamation from filling Lake Powell because its waters threatened the Rainbow Bridge National Monument.

"What business does a federal judge have trying to run a national park?"

Ritter denied outright a motion for a preliminary injunction against the Park Service, which would have stopped it from putting a ceiling on the number of river trips. The ceiling set by the Grand Canyon superintendent is the actual number of trips made during 1972.

The judge also said he agreed with the Park Service's goal of trying to protect the delicate ecology of the canyon. He said the construction of Glen Canyon Dam destroyed most of the scenic Colorado River canyon country.

"It is gone for eternity," he said. "We have to be very careful with the stretch of river below Glen Canyon Dam. It is all we have left."

However, Ritter turned down a motion by the U.S. Attorney to dismiss the suit brought by the tour companies. He gave their attorneys the weekend to prepare arguments why he should hear the case.

The suit was filed April 18 by Western River Expeditions, Hatch River Expeditions, Tour West and Cross Tours and Expeditions of Utah; Sanderson River Expeditions and Canyon-oars-Inc., of Arizona; and White River Expeditions of California.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, the National Park Service and several of its officers were named defendants.

Tour company attorney James A. Brown said the Park Service had agreed to allow 105,000 use-days in the canyon this summer for float trips — the same limit as in 1972. But the limit was then cut back to 89,000 use-days — the actual number of days spent on the river by visitors last year.

Brown said the limits were arbitrary and capricious, and deprived a great number of persons from seeing the canyon. He also said it was a violation of the Park Service's duty to provide the widest possible use of the canyon.

U.S. Attorney C. Nelson Day, however, argued that a large increase in the number of float trips in recent years has forced the Park Service to consider limits.

He said there were 89 float trips through the canyon in 1967 and 582 last summer. Just over 2000 persons made the trip in 1967 compared to 16,432 in 1972.

"The Park Service wants time to assess the impact of this increased use on the canyon," Day said. "They do not want to cut back on the trips through the canyon. They just want to hold the line."

Bellevue obtaining bids for street improvement

BELLEVUE — The Bellevue City Council is in the process of obtaining bids on gravel for a 50-block street improvement project.

During a meeting Thursday night, city council members said they will concentrate on east-west roads initially, laying an about 20 foot wide roadbeds.

After the meeting, Mayor Pete Johnson said after gravel is installed the city will determine the extent of repaving and seal coating on the gravel roads.

Bellevue Volunteer Fire Department. Equipment costs were estimated at about $1,100.

The about 12 member department with Martin Gutches as spokesman, attended the meeting.

Referred a plan by Mark Patterson for additional permanent and overnight trailer spaces at his trailer court to the city planning and zoning commission for their recommendations.

National guard training ends

BOISE (UPI) — National Guard annual training for some 2,000 men of Idaho's 116th armored cavalry ended Saturday at Gowen Field near Boise.

Troop F from Jerome and Hailey and Howitzer battery, 1st squadron from Nampa, underwent an army training test during their stay in the field.

Convoys rolled out of Gowen Field carrying the guardsmen and their equipment back to their hometown armories stretching from Preston to Weiser.

They were tested by a special test unit, the 75th maneuver area command from Houston, Texas.

During their 15-day stay, the guardsmen spent eight days and nights in intensive field training in the 250-square mile maneuver area about 35 miles south of the base.

Idaho's portion of the regiment is composed of two squadrons, the regimental headquarters from Twin Falls and Troop N from Boise.

While in the field they participated in tank gunnery, howitzer firing, and other tactical training for rifle squads, scout sections and mortar platoons.

The 2nd squadron, headquartered in Pocatello, commands units in Blackfoot, Jerome, Burley, Rupert, Hailey and Preston.

Ski education unit discussed

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI) — A floor fight erupted Friday during the U.S. Ski Association convention at ratification proceedings on a proposal to make the U.S. Ski Education Foundation (USSEF) a separate entity.

The foundation's tax-exempt status under which it could not receive commercial income directly.

The proposal was to have the USSEF financially break away from USSA, have separate staffs, means of development and fund raising.

But there remained one link between the USSEF and USSA, the spokesman said, in that 60 per cent of the foundation's Board of Trustees were USSA affiliates.

A USSA spokesman said he felt that the separation of the two would create "a stronger autonomy in governing the program directly related to the Alpine and Nordic ski teams."

Opposition to the proposal was led by the immediate past president of the central division of the USSA, Bob Kuelthau, Milwaukee, Wis.

Another arm of USSEF is the new U.S. Ski Team Inc. (USSETI), designed to protect the foundation's tax-exempt status under which it could not receive commercial income directly.

Ketchum man pleads guilty

HAILEY — Patrick E. Simpson, Ketchum, pleaded guilty to three counts of delivery of a controlled substance, a felony, in Fifth District Court Thursday.

Simpson had earlier pleaded not guilty and a court trial had been scheduled for July 24.

Thursday, Fifth District Judge Charles Scoggin requested a pre-sentence investigation, with Simpson to return to court June 28. Simpson's $2,500 bond was continued.

Simpson was represented in court by Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls. The state was represented by Blaine County Pros. Atty. Stephen W. Boller.

Simpson was arrested in November after a three-month joint investigation by the Ketchum Police Department and the Idaho Bureau of Narcotics and Drug Enforcement.

VFW parade at Burley

Officers named at Gem VFW conclave at Burley

BURLEY — A new slate of officers was elected for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Saturday, as delegates concluded their three-day state convention here.

The office of judge-advocate was won by Donald Sears, Coeur d'Alene, who won over Charles Harris, St. Anthony, and Dale Hersley, Pocatello.

The post of department surgeon was filled by Gene Sanders, Sandpoint. He defeated Gail Walker, Rigby, by 44 votes.

James Doolittle, department chief of staff, acting as nominating chairman, presided over the election of VFW officers Saturday afternoon.

The next convention will be held in June, 1974, in Arco. This year's session was attended by about 350 veterans.

A parade was held in Burley Saturday morning, led by area Gold Star parents. There were eight entries including color guard, auxiliary marching unit, crash car and a bus from Pocatello. About 50 members participated.

Sidney Thompson, Pocatello, received a unanimous vote for department commander. Ted Pharris, Glens Ferry, also won a unanimous vote as senior vice commander.

Friday night Ray Sadin, senior vice commander and chief, spoke to the combined groups during a general banquet. A dance followed. Saturday night buses took members for an evening at Jackpot, Nev.

Jim Sheppard, Coeur d'Alene, won a 45 vote margin in the race for junior vice commander over Carl Paul, Kamiah. Don Irby, Orofino, was elected over Harry Feldman, Weiser, for the post of quartermaster.

Carl Paul received a majority of votes for the post of chaplain. He defeated Ted Crab, Sandpoint.

No ruling yet on Burley case

BURLEY — Investigating Cassia County officers said Saturday they have not ruled out either suicide or homicide in the Thursday shooting death of a Burley woman.

Deborah Bowden, 46, was found dead Thursday afternoon by her daughter, Sandra Rodriguez. In Mrs. Bowden's mobile home in the court located between the A and P and Delmonte, processing plants in Burley.

Sheriff's officers said she had been shot three times in the chest, two small caliber bullet holes were found in the middle left chest and one through the heart, an autopsy report indicated. Officers said a fourth bullet hole was found in the door of the trailer. Officers said Mrs. Bowden's body, clad in a housecoat, was lying across the bed of her bedroom. It was estimated she had been dead since shortly after leaving work at the Sunplot processing plant at midnight Wednesday.

Sheriff's officers also said a 22 caliber gun, apparently the death weapon, was found beside the body. There were four empty cartridges in the gun, officers said.

Officers said a number of leads are being investigated and several items have been sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for analysis.

Yellowstone visits up

Yellowstone Park, Wyo. (UPI) — Yellowstone National Park visitation this year has increased 9.7 per cent over the same period last year.

A park report said 155,454 visitors entered the park from Jan. 1, 1973 to May 31, 1973. That figure was up 13,764 from 1972 visitor tabulations.

A total of 114,182 persons visited the park during the month of May, up slightly from 1972's mark.

In compiling the report, officials count the visitors in cars, buses, snowmobiles, snowcoaches and ski and snowshoe traffic.

Water rotation begins

BELLEVUE — Water rotation will begin Monday in Bellevue. Residents north of Elm Street will water their yards on even days; residents south of Elm will water on odd days.

Antique show and sale held

FILER — Doors of the Tom Parks Pavilion at the Filer Fairgrounds were scheduled to open at 10 a.m. today for the antique show and sale.

People will be able to view the exhibits until 10 p.m. tonight, according to Glenn McCoy, president of the Twin Falls Shrine Club which is sponsoring the show.

The show got under way Saturday with 41 tables of antiques and collectibles from local dealers, as well as other Idaho dealers and those of surrounding states.

Display at Filer

A special feature is a display of Peruvian articles being shown by Wendy Bryan, Gooding, formerly of Lima, Peru, who brought many of the native-of-the-native-crafts back to the states with her.

Nearly every kind of popular antique is being shown at the show, many of them for sale. Included are clear and colored glassware, china, primitives, silver and other metals, dolls and toys and others.

Collectibles include insulators, rocks and shells, pottery and ceramics.

A refreshment stand at the show is being run by the Twin Falls Chapter of DeMolay.

DOLLS ARE BECOMING a very popular collection and several booths at the Shrine Club show and sale at the fairgrounds are displaying them. This large collection of dolls is one of those being shown with prices ranging from low to high. Nearly every kind of collectors item can be found among the 41 tables at the show.

Director of youth ranch sees no major problems

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

RUPERT — James E. Worsley Jr., newly appointed executive director of the Idaho Youth Ranch, said Friday he felt recent discord at the ranch will cause no major problems.

Worsley, 54, said he didn't feel recent ranch problems would cause any "critical" difficulties when he assumes the post about June 25.

May 23 Lee Childs resigned as executive director of the youth ranch and Dwayne Peterson was dismissed as ranch director. Two days later, the entire ranch houseparent staff resigned over program differences with the board.

Because of lack of personnel, the ranch referred all but two of 28 boys to other agencies or to their homes. Ranch teachers had taken over temporarily as houseparents. Two new sets of houseparents were hired last weekend.

Worsley said he was first interviewed by the board for the position on May 23.

As he saw it, Worsley said, the problems at the ranch were "basically communication and coordination." There were "very qualified individuals" working at the ranch, he said.

Though he refused to give any specific programs or philosophies to be adopted when he takes the post, Worsley said, "I'll be very much involved in all aspects of it."

As executive director, Worsley will be head of the entire ranch administration, he said, and answerable only to the board of directors.

There will be individuals available on the ranch to give advice and assistance in ranch programs, he said. He declined to name specific individuals because, he said, he "wasn't that well-acquainted" with the ranch staff at this point.

When he "got his feet wet" and took over the post as executive director, he could give more specific details on future ranch programs, Worsley said.

Worsley is currently associated with the Comprehensive Health Planning Agency in Boise. He has served for the last 15 years as Idaho division executive of the American Cancer Society.

Previously, Worsley said, he worked in sales and sales promotion.

Worsley said he applied for the position because of his background and because of his "interest in people." He said he felt there was "a need for this type of direction."

"I feel it is a challenge," he said.

Worsley said he had not seen the state investigation report, drawn up following reports of child abuse at the ranch, but said, "I hope they do make suggestions" for ranch programs.

The report, which is currently in the hands of the board of directors, will make suggestions for ranch programs and administration according to Dr. James Bux, head of the Idaho Environmental and Community Services department.

The state investigation spurred the dismissal of one ranch teacher, William Potter. Worsley said he would not actually move to the area until after the first of July and would live in Rupert, not the ranch itself.

Sievers cops 880, McCalley sets record in Rose meet

PORTLAND — Twin Falls halfmiler Gary Sievers provided the only win for Idaho and Gooding, State's Steve McCalley established a new American deaf record in the two mile Saturday in the first annual high school Rose Festival Track Meet.

Sievers, turning loose a blistering kick on the final stretch to win the halfmile in his best time ever of 1:54.7. McCalley, although he finished sixth in a torrid three-man race that ended in 8:53, turned the two-mile in 9:21.1, eleven seconds under the American deaf record he set at the state track meet.

Twin Falls Coach Jerry Kleinkopf, who took four Bruins to the event, said "Idaho didn't exactly set the world on fire but there were some reasons. We (Idaho) completed our season three weeks ago and Oregon just had their state meet last week. Washington's was two weeks ago. The other states, particularly Oregon, had to be in better running condition."

One surprise cropped up when Kip Dennis, who received a late invitation to compete in the hurdles after a 14.5 win in the A-3 division, didn't show up at the starting line. Idaho was not represented in any hurdling events.

Idaho only garnered three medals — three were given in each event. Sievers, of course, got the only gold while Jeff Schroeder of Meridian equalled his record setting 6-8 high jump for third in an event that went at 6-11. Ross Hyde of Madison was third in the 220-yard dash in 22.3, the win going at 21-7.

In the mile run, Oregon and Washington dominated, first place going at 4:12. Lynn Hills of Nampa, second in Idaho, turned in a fine 4:16 but still went unplaced. Idaho champion, Pat Charlton of Twin Falls, finished further back and was in the words of Coach Kleinkopf, a "complete bundle of knots. He never was able to relax."

In the quartermile, Twin Falls' Bruce Cooper turned in a 50 flat and was ripped by perhaps six inches by Idaho Falls junior Harold Cook. Both were unplaced. Shotput champ Tony Kevan couldn't find his rhythm and went unplaced at 52 feet.

"It was good experience for us and everyone up here seemed so pleased with the outcome that I'm sure they'll try it again next year," Coach Kleinkopf summed up. "But one thing's for sure. If we (Twin Falls) qualify anyone next year, we are going to continue with regular, hard workouts every day."

The coach said he felt Sievers could have knocked considerable time off his halfmile clocking. "It was a tight pack all the way and at the end of the first lap, Gary was dead last, not far away but last."

"He turned the first lap in 50 seconds which was too slow but he was kinda feeling his way because the field was full of guys who'd run 1:53s. He moved up a couple places on the backstretch and was in the middle of the pack coming off the turn. But when he kicked loose he just flew past everyone and won by three or four yards. I think," Coach Kleinkopf concluded, "Gary was capable of a 1:52 something today but that first lap was just too slow. Anyway, we're very happy to have provided the one Idaho champion."

N.C. sprinter named best in all-American prep track meet

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Carter Suggs, a junior from Tarboro, N.C., blazed to victory in the 100- and 200-yard dashes Saturday to highlight the third annual All-American High School Track and Field Championships.

Suggs, a unanimous selection by writers as the meet's outstanding athlete, won the 100 in 9.5 seconds, edging Michael Tyson of Charleston, W. Va., at the wire. In the 220, Suggs was clocked in 21.3, three-tenths of a second ahead of Tyson.

Suggs also was on the winning 440-yard relay team.

Only three meet records were set in the meet that started in 1955 degree heat. Jerry Herndon of San Bernardino, Calif., leaped 25 feet, 4 inches to win the long jump with an illegal favoring wind, but came back to set the meet record of 25 feet-1 1/2. The effort was four inches above the previous mark set by Anthony Carter of Mobile, Ala., in 1972.

In the high jump, Terry Burris of Columbus, Ohio, cleared seven feet to set a record, bettering the old mark of 6-9 1/2 set by Harold Reese of Auburn, Ala., in 1972.

Don Duvall of Denver, Colo., North High School leaped 51-2 1/2 in the triple jump, eclipsing the old mark by more than two inches. That was held by Dale Krebs of Palo Alto, Calif.

Burris and Duvall were selected by the meet's sponsors, Olympia Sports Village and Sears, as the outstanding athletes in a separate vote.

Women's events were held for the first time in the meet's three-year history, and Debbie Esser of Woodbine, Iowa, took the 440-yard dash and 100-meter hurdles honors and anchored her mile relay team to a victory. Debbie Carroll of Collins, Iowa, also was a double winner.

Wottle sets mile record; UCLA collects NCAA title

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Dave Wottle ran the fastest mile of his life and eight men broke the four-minute mark in the same mile race for the first time in history Saturday on the final day of the NCAA track and field championships. UCLA, despite a disappointment from sprinter Benny Brown, won its third straight team title. Wottle clipped off a 53-second final lap in the heat and humidity on the Louisiana State University track to turn in a 3:57.1 in breaking the NCAA meet record of 3:57.6 set two years ago by Marty Liquori and in the process drew the next seven runners across in less than four minutes.

Finishing second behind UCLA, thanks to Steve Prefontaine's three-mile victory, was Oregon with 31 points. Next came Brigham Young and Arizona State with 26 points each. Tennessee had 24 points and Texas-El Paso and Kent State tied with 22 points each. Next came Memphis State and Texas with 20 points each. The Trojans of USC finished with a mere nine points. Other than Wottle's NCAA record in the mile, new meet records were set in the javelin where Sam Colson won with a throw of 279.9, by Prefontaine who won the three-mile run in 13:05.3 and by Reynaldo Brown of California Poly with a leap of 7-4 in the high jump.

Two other records were tied. Doug Brown of Tennessee equaled one in the 3,000-meter steeplechase with a time of 8:30.1 and Texas' Robert Primeaux tied another in the 400-yard hurdles with a clocking of 49.5.

Prefontaine, in winning the three-mile, became the first athlete in NCAA history to win the same event four consecutive years.

Other champions Saturday included defending titleholder Dave Roberts of Rice in the pole vault (17-4); Mack Wilkins of Oregon in the discus (203-11); Marshall Dill of Michigan State in the 220-yard dash (20.9); Maurice Peoples of Arizona State in the 440-yard dash (45.0); Earl Kent of Wisconsin in the 880-yard run (1:47.2) and the sprint relay team from Memphis State (39.6).

Wottle said that because of the slow pace, he had no idea how fast a race was being run. "I really didn't know because everybody was sitting back and relying on his kick," said Wottle. "I have been worrying about my back which I hurt in the prelims, but it didn't bother me today. I think the pace was slow because of the heat."

Nastase shrugs off probe, ousts Kodes from tournament

ROME (UPI) — Ilie Nastase of Romania, under investigation by his fellow players for walking off the court in a doubles match, repeated his 1970 championship victory over Jan Kodes Saturday to advance to the semifinals of the $135,000 Italian tennis championships. Nastase, who won the French Open last week, downed Kodes, of Czechoslovakia, 6-2, 6-2, on the rain-slowed center court of Rome's Foro Italico to join Holland's Tom Okker, defending champion Manuel Orantes of Spain and Italy's unseeded Paolo Bertolucci in the final four.

The Romanian, who won his first major tournament in Rome in 1970 against the same Kodes, drew the ire of Italian officials Friday for walking off the court during a doubles match because of spectator heckling.

The Italian Tennis Federation, which turned a blind eye to the International Lawn Tennis Federation ban on Nikki Pilic and allowed the Yugoslav to play here, protested to the Association of Tennis Players' (ATP). The ATP agreed to hold a meeting June 24 in Hurlingham, England, on whether to impose sanctions against Nastase.

In the women's singles, Chris Evert of Port Lauderdale, Fla., and Evonne Coolidge of Australia set up a dream final by their winning their respective semi-finals.

Okker took less trouble in dispatching top-seeded Stan Smith than he did in the French Open, taking the tall American Wimbledon champion, 7-5, 6-3. The Dutchman had to go to five sets in Paris against Smith, who never has won a major clay court title in Europe. Okker, who won here in 1968, broke Smith in the 12th game of the first set and then wrapped it up on his fourth match point of the ninth game of the second set. The Dutchman had Smith 40-0 in the ninth game, but Smith brought the game back to deuce, charging the net and forcing Okker into errors.

Smith held advantage twice before hitting long at one deuce from the baseline and giving Okker his fourth match point which he converted.

In perhaps the best match of the day, Bertolucci came from behind before a cheering hometown crowd of 3,000 Italians, won six straight games to take the second set. He put the match away by taking the first five straight points to win the third set and match on a 7-2 tie-break set.

A's shut out Detroit 4-0

OAKLAND (UPI) — Reggie Jackson drove in three runs with a double and infield out and Ken Holtzman pitched a two hit shutout for his 11th victory Saturday in leading the Oakland A's to a 4-0 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Jackson drove in Oakland's first run during a two-run first inning rally and delivered two more in the eighth to push his hit total to nine in the last three games and to 46 for the season. Holtzman gave up a single to Mickey Stanley leading off the game, then retired 20 batters in order before Willie Horton doubled with two out in the seventh. He wound up the game by retiring the next seven batters in order and needed only 88 pitches to accomplish the victory.

Sox pin ninth loss on Indians

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Bill Melton drove in two runs with his first triple of the season and Eddie Fisher, with relief help from Terry Forster, picked up his sixth victory Saturday as the Chicago White Sox extended the Cleveland Indians' losing streak to nine games with a 6-3 victory.

The White Sox staked Fisher to a 3-0 lead in the first inning against loser Gaylord Perry, who has not won a game since May 21st.

After one out, rookie Bill Sharp singled, took third on Dick Allen's single and both runners rode home when Melton sliced a triple down the right field line for his 40th and 41st runs batted in of the season. Melton scored on a passed ball by catcher Dave Duncan.

From all angles

By Larry Hovey

Hambly around:
Boise State reports that Ron Adams, the 1966 do-everything graduate of Gooding high school, will take his last year's eligibility to play football for the Broncos this fall.

Adams, who played frosh ball at Utah State and then went into the service, still has the one year left under the four-in-five NCAA rule due to that service moratorium.

Thing that impressed the Broncos was one of the basic things that always impressed around here—his punting. As a high schooler a 75-yard kick from Ron was nothing to raise one's eyebrows about. During the recent BSC-Alumni game, Ron opened with a 65-yarder in the air and from then on had everyone's attention.

Another Ron, this time ex-CSI star Ron Behagen, due back to help Coach Jerry Hale with his basketball clinic Monday, achieved a little scholarship notoriety at University of Minnesota.

Behagen, who should be or soon will be negotiating a pro contract with Kansas City-Omaha in the NBA, made the dean's list with his grades. A two-year starter at Minnesota, Behagen shined in the recent USA-Russian basketball extravaganza and has reaped a number of personal successes in his amateur career. But he'll be remembered for the one big minus.

On the magic valley scene, Brent Watson, three-spot letterman at Buhl high school reportedly will become a Twin Falls Bruin this fall. His mother will become a teacher in the Twin Falls system.

As a Buhl Indian, Watson played defensive tackle and fullback in football, was a starter underneath in basketball, and placed in state competition in the discus and shotput.

He's 6-4 and weighs about 235 pounds.

Mildest news around last week was that University of Idaho has had its application for membership in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association accepted. It was received without much fanfare due to the Vandals' long-known desire to leave the Big Sky Conference due to reduction of athletic scholarships, particularly in football.

Among all the pros and cons of the move, the one thing that stands out must be the guarantee of the Vandals that their football stadium will be covered in the very near future.

But it will be interesting to see how the eventual withdrawal from Big Sky Conference shapes up. For the most part and from a purely competitive standpoint, it appears few of the existing members particularly care if Idaho stays in or not. This largely stems from the issue of a couple of years ago when some of the other state members weren't too excited about Idaho having three league members when the matter of Boise State's entry was on the line.

With Idaho's leaving, it brings a question up about the value of Gonzaga as a member. The Bulldogs play no football and with Idaho gone, it's tough to pick up Friday and Saturday night basketball games in the Inland Empire.

Also sticks in our mind that the board of regents rejected the idea of Idaho leaving with the university faculty athletic board voting the other way. That also will be a point to follow.

Harkening back a few years. Hear the report that Ollie Butler, 1959-61 basketball coach at Twin Falls high school has been named coach at Fullerton junior college. Butler comes to the job after several successful years at Victorville high school in California. Thing about Butler, in two years of coaching, he never lost a home game and led Twin Falls to its best season ever his first year, a 17-3 record. That was the club that was wiped out in district tournament, much of it attributable to the emergency appendectomy of Bart Strong 48 hours before the college opener.

On a College of Southern Idaho note, 6-6 high schooler Lon Trotter of Oxnard, Calif., in town last weekend for the Nate Archibald doings, signed a letter of intent with the Eagles. Word is that Arnold Dugger, a New Yorker who will be here come fall, is definitely a player. Coach Jerry Hale further reports it appears the Eagles have let out on Hurley of Des Moines, Ia., to Tyler, Texas, junior college. But the last shot in that fracas hasn't been fired yet. The coach remains optimistic about the Eagles' fortunes for next season.

In the "someone up there doesn't like you department," consider the senior plight of Twin Falls grad Curt Kinghorn at Idaho State University this spring. In his best effort, Kinghorn stopped BYU on a four-hitter but still wound up with a losing mark. Some of this was due to the fact that at one point of the Bengal season the ISU defense committed half its errors (21 of 42) while Curt was pitching. And he only started one fourth of the team's games. He ended up with an ERA of just over three runs per nine innings.

Rick Soberg, one of CSI's few uncommitted sophomores, still is taking his time in deciding on the four-year school he'll choose. Soberg, who has visited eight campuses over the past eight weekends, says he's narrowed the count to four schools. Those would include St. John's in New York, University of San Francisco, University of Nevada at Las Vegas and University of Maryland.

Rick figures his traveling days are about over, with a couple of exceptions, but is finding the final decision harder to come by than he believed it would be.

Kevin Nelson, who turned down an offer from the San Francisco Giants after last winter's baseball draft, has been claimed in the June free agent draft by the New York Yankees. Nelson, who pitched and played outfield for CSI this past spring, currently is working in Tulsa, Okla.

Stan Doten, former Twin Falls distance ace, currently is running for the San Diego track club and last week took his maiden voyage in the long-distance. He came in fifth in the city's annual Shady Oaks 20 kilometer run and led through most of the course. Trouble was, he told his father Bill Doten, was after about 15 kilometers he kept feeling the finish line would be showing up. He turned the long tour in one hour, 16 minutes and five seconds.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Tom Weiskopf, who has been shattering par with almost monotonous regularity for more than a month because he is thinking "positively," did it again Saturday with a seven-under 65 to vault into a three-stroke lead after the third round of the IVB Philadelphia Golf Classic.

And while Weiskopf was out on the sun-baked Whitemarsh Valley Country Club enjoying his new-found approach to his game, two-time U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino withdrew from the tourney after a five-over 77 because "I'm not here mentally."

Weiskopf, who has won two tournaments during his streak of 16 consecutive sub-par rounds, started the day's play six strokes back of the pacesetter for the first two rounds, sophomore pro Jim Barber.

And while Barber was having his first biggy trouble of the tourney, Weiskopf was going on a birdie spree and just missing two eagles to come in with a 54-hole total of 203, 13 under par, and the lead over Hale Irwin, who had 206 as a result of a 70.

Forrest Fegler, with an even-par 72, was at 207 while Barber, who had gone into the round with a 12-under 132, soared to a four-over 76 for a 208 total to tie him with Johnny Miller and Larry Ziegler.

John Schlee and David Barber were at 209 while Jerry Heard, Miller Barber, defending champion J.C. Snead and Babe Nickley were deadlocked at 210.

Jack Nicklaus, who along with Trevino came here hoping for a good tune-up for next week's U.S. Open, had a two-under 70 for a 213 total.

Trevino's five-over 77 gave him a tourney total of 216 and he withdrew saying, "I'm not here mentally. I have no excuse."

"I don't want to cheat the people," he said. "People came to see me play golf and I wasn't playing good golf," said Trevino whose next stop with his mobile home will be across the state at Oakmont, scene of the Open.

Weiskopf, who said he feels "like a completely different person than I've ever been on the golf course," birdied the second hole, bogeyed the fourth when he missed the green and then went on a birdie spree for the next three holes.

His birdie on the par-five fifth hole came after an eight-foot eagle putt tipped the cup. Weiskopf picked up another birdie on the par-five 11th hole, where again an eagle putt rolled into the cup and out.

The 30-year-old Ohioan then added birdies on the 13th, 16th and 17th to complete his 65 and add to his sub-par streak that is the best on the tour this year.

Irwin missed a chance to move closer to Weiskopf when he bogeyed 15th and 16th by missing the greens.

Barber, a tour rabbit who appeared to wilt under the 90-degree weather, had only one birdie and five bogeys, including the par-five 17th hole where he hit his second shot into an unplayable lie by a little tree and had to make a penalty drop.

Trio ties for lead in pro women's meet

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Julie Blalock shot a blistering four under par 69, the best round of the tournament, to charge into a tie with Japanese champion Chako Higuchi and American money leader Kathy Whitworth Saturday after three rounds of the $35,000 LPGA Championship at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Miss Blalock, playing in her first full tournament since the end of a year-long suspension, started the day six strokes off the pace set by Miss Higuchi, but capped her comeback with a 10-foot putt for a birdie four on the 501-yard 18th hole.

Miss Whitworth also birdied the 18th while Miss Higuchi settled for a par and the three women completed 54 holes of the 72-hole tourney at 217, two under par for the hilly, 5,130-yard course.

Mary Mills was in fourth place at one under par while Betty Burdett and Sandra Palmer were at even par.

Miss Blalock, 27, of Portsmouth, N.H., said she "started the day nervous" and feared she might have a "disastrous" round after going into the rough and three-putting for a double bogey on the third hole.

But she had birdies on the fourth, seventh and ninth holes to draw back into contention. She also birdied the 10th and 15th holes before finishing her round with a perfect approach shot on 18 that took her to within 10 feet of the cup.

Miss Blalock, barred from the LPGA tour a year ago for alleged cheating by improving her lie on the greens, has said all week that a win in the organization's own tourney would mean more to her than a $100,000 championship.

Miss Whitworth shot a two under par 71 for the day while Miss Higuchi, who had 71s in the first two rounds and entered Saturday's action with a four-stroke lead, went two over par for the day.

Miss Blalock, long a local favorite, said she was disappointed in her opening round 77 on Thursday, but "when I birdied the 18th that day I felt confident I was going to have a nice round after that."

Miss Blalock said she was temporarily worried about the threat of a thunderstorm midway through her round.

"I was three under par at Las Vegas last week when I saw lightning on the course and I just blew up," she said. "I saw lightning today and I said to myself 'Oh God. Don't let it happen again.'"

She said she "knew I had a good chance to break 70 for the first time this year" when she was coming up the 18th hole.

Miss Whitworth shot into the lead for a time Saturday, carding birdies on the third, seventh, tenth and eleventh holes. But she fell back into the crowd with bogeys on 13, 14 and 17.

"I feel fortunate to be in a three-way tie with the way I'm playing," said Miss Whitworth, a two-time winner of the LPGA

Softball statistics announced

Lefty Dale Crist and sweet-swinging Barry Espol hold the batting leads in the "A" league at .567 while Rolf is dominating the "B" loop at .750 according to softball statistics released Saturday night by Statistarian Jim Astorguia.

Behind Crist and Espol are Ron Bird .611, Rick Spriggs .500, Rich Birrell .588, Earl Taylor .581, Rusty Eller .567, Tim Beaver .556 and Ron Silvers .550. Pushing Hofs in the "B" division are Doug Guff and Mike Fennen .667, Terry Deleski .650, Ted Manker .625, D. Coats .621 and Karl Malone and Larry Wahl .600.

Paul Epperson is killing the "B" league with seven homers while Rick Gauley's four tops the "A."

No team remains undefeated through seven games. First Federal-Shiftle Inn and Paris Culligan-Bank and Trust, both leading the league in long names also lead the A with 4-1 marks. Alley and Royal Lounge-Blitz are 3-2 while Depot Grill-Turf Club and East Five Points-Buedwiser are 4-3. Maxx's Pizza is 2-5 while Taco Bandido, Ford Transfer-Brake and Petroleum and Klover Klub are 1-6.

In the B league, Walls Motor and Culligan-Shiftle Inn are knotted at 7-1, one-half game ahead of Pepsi. Can's is 6-2 while Olympia, Heads and Threads and Master Sheet Metal are 5-3. At 3-5 are P and E Concrete, Independent Meat, Black Whale and Filler.

Pirates thump Houston 4-1
HOUSTON (UPI) — Willie Stargell ripped a two-run double and Al Oliver cracked a two-run single to support the eight-hit pitching of Bob Moose Saturday night and give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-1 victory over the Houston Astros.

Stargell's double climaxed a four-run rally in the fifth inning off loser Don Wilson (4-6), who got in trouble by walking three men. He walked Milt May with one out and then with two out, he walked Vito Davalillo and Dave Cash to load the bases.

Oliver grounded a single to right and Stargell lined a double off the rightfield wall for the final two. The two RBI's ran Stargell's total for the season to 42, third best in the National League, and Oliver's pair boosted his total to 37, fifth in the league.

Pittsburgh's 4-1 victory over the Houston Astros was Stargell's 42nd home run of the season. He walked Milt May with one out and then with two out, he walked Vito Davalillo and Dave Cash to load the bases.

Oliver grounded a single to right and Stargell lined a double off the rightfield wall for the final two. The two RBI's ran Stargell's total for the season to 42, third best in the National League, and Oliver's pair boosted his total to 37, fifth in the league.

Lee Trevino withdraws
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Lee Trevino, who had hoped to use play here at the IVB Philadelphia Golf Classic as a tune-up for next week's U.S. Open, withdrew suddenly Saturday after the third round because "I'm not mentally here."

Trevino, anxious to win his third Open title at the Oakmont Country Club near Pittsburgh next week, received the sponsor's permission to withdraw after shooting a five-over-par 77 for a 54-hole total of 216, two over par and far back in the pack.

"I've no excuse for withdrawing," Trevino said. "I'm honest. Some people would lie. I don't lie."

USC opens NCAA baseball title defense with 4-1 decision

QMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Defending National champion Southern California struck early Saturday night and coasted to a 4-1 opening round win over Harvard in the College World Series.

Earlier Saturday, Texas downed a stubborn Georgia Southern team 6-3, and Oklahoma ousted Penn State from the double elimination tourney 6-0.

The results pit Georgia Southern against Harvard Sunday afternoon with the loser eliminated.

Minnesota faces Arizona State and Southern California takes on Texas Sunday night.

The Southern Cal-Trojans took a 2-0 lead in the opening inning in the clash with Harvard. Shortstop Roy Smalley singled, went to third on another single and scored on a sacrifice fly by Ed Bowman. Ken Hultzen then doubled home Bowman.

Harvard's only run came in the third when pitcher Ron Brayton singled, took second on a wild pitch and third on a groundout. He was singled in by Leigh Hogan.

The win went to Mark Barr, now 9-2 on the year. Bryant took the loss and is 7-0.

In the Texas-Georgia Southern game, third baseman Keith Morland slammed a three-run homer to lead Texas to the win.

Georgia-Southern scored in the first and added another in the third on an inside the park homer by left fielder Carl Persons.

The win went to Ron Roznovsky, putting his record at 14-2. Ernie Venet took his first loss of the season after 12 wins.

In the first game Saturday, Penn State became the first team eliminated from the double elimination tournament.

Utah's freshman hurling star Bob Shirley was denied a no-hitter in the eighth inning when pinch-hitter Garry Koch drilled across a single to center.

It was the sixth one-hitter in series history as well as being the first since 1968. It gave Shirley his seventh win of the year against no losses.

Lee Trevino withdraws

Paul to open motocross course

PAUL — A grandopening motocross event will be held today at the new Magic Valley Motocross track northwest of Paul.

The first race for the new course, built and operated by the Magic Valley Motocross Club, was held Thursday and the course is open every day for practice.

Registration for today's events begins at 8 a.m. and continues until 10 a.m. with a riders meeting at 10:30 a.m. and races beginning at 11 a.m.

Events will include novice, intermediate and expert classes as well as a special class for mini-bikes and another for powderpuffers.

Officials of the cycle club said the track is open at 1 p.m. daily for persons wishing to practice but a charge is made. Admission is also charged for the racing events.

The new course is located at 1200 west and 200 north out of Paul, with signs directing residents to the track from 1200 west.

Winners of the opening event Thursday who will be competing today include Joe Phillips, Burley, first; Rick Holms, Curtis Holms, Fred Siegel and Dennis Smith, all from the Burley-Rupert area.

The club has set up a schedule of race events for the remainder of the season. Races will be held June 14, June 16, June 17, June 21, and June 24 and during the remainder of the summer on Thursdays and Sundays.

US firms plan Russ gas project

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union and two U.S. firms announced Friday they intend to develop a $10 billion sales project that would have Siberian natural gas cooking stoves in American kitchens by 1999.

If ultimately approved by both governments, it would be the first Soviet-American energy agreement and the biggest single trade deal between the two superpowers.

An agreement of intent between the Foreign Trade Ministry and the El Paso Natural Gas Co. and Occidental Petroleum Corp. to move natural gas from northeastern Siberia to the U.S. West Coast was announced by Occidental Chairman Dr. Armand Hammer.

"It will take about six years before Russian 'natural' gas would be cooking American stoves," Hammer told a news conference.

The Soviet gas involved would be less than 2 percent of current U.S. consumption.

The 75-year-old Hammer, who in April signed an $8 billion chemical fertilizer deal with the Russians, said Soviet officials told him they plan to use the gas sales revenues to buy goods and services from the United States.

Implementation of the project requires the approval of both governments and no contracts have been signed. Major questions of financing and planning, such as credit for the Soviet Union and the problems of building pipeline in permafrost, remain to be answered.

Hammer indicated development costs would be at least $1 billion dollars with each side paying around $2 billion.

The project envisages movement of two billion cubic feet of natural gas per day through 2,000 miles of pipeline from Yakutsk to the Pacific port of Vladivostok, then to the U.S. West Coast by tanker.

"At current market prices, such gas over the 25 year term of the agreement would exceed $10 billion in revenue for the USSR," Hammer said.

Hammer said the agreement of intent is "a first step that will be supplemented eventually by a general agreement."

Non-ruble financing of the project, excluding a 20-tanker fleet envisioned, would require about $2 billion, Hammer said.

El Paso Chairman Howard Boyd said the fleet of 20 tankers would cost another $3 billion.

Neither chairman ventured an estimate of overall Soviet development costs.

Western business sources said it appeared the Soviets would have to supply at least $2 billion to build the pipeline and processing facilities within the Soviet Union. Occidental and El Paso would purchase the ships and be responsible for transport and marketing.

Top bidder for Salmon timber told

SALMON (UPI) — Robinson Lumber Co. was the high bidder for 1.13 million board feet of timber from Cyanide Gulch in the Salmon National Forest.

The firm bid $97.88 per thousand board feet for the Ponderosa pine and $82.01 per thousand for the Douglas fir in the sale.

One-fourth mile of specified road will be required in the sale.

Don Goodrich, timber staff officer on the Salmon National Forest, said the bid price was five cents per thousand over the appraised price. Two other bids were submitted for the timber.

Silver

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman Friday quoted silver at 253.7 cents per fine ounce up 1.7 cents.

Gem power loan OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Rural Electrification Administration has granted a $55,000 loan to the Lost River Electric Cooperative Inc. in Mackay.

According to Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, the loan will help finance 11 miles of distribution lines eventually serving 42 additional consumers. The Lost River Electric Cooperative serves Butte, Blaine and Custer counties.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — In June, 1971, I bought 50 shares of Edmos Corp. (ASE) for $26 a share. I realized this maker of doubleknit fabrics was somewhat speculative but the price started slipping almost immediately. Now that the shares are below $6 I wonder whether I should buy more or take the loss. — R.H.

A — After an initial boom followed by an equally dynamic bust, the doubleknit textile industry now appears headed for a period of relative calm. Demand is expected to increase at a 15 percent annual rate.

Foreign imports, which were a major competitive problem, are now leveling off as a result of negotiated trade agreements and two dollar devaluations. In the explosive early boom days the industry was enjoying a 50 percent return per machine. As a result of lower product price and higher machine costs the figure is now closer to 10 percent. Because of this reduced profit level many of the marginal producers have been shaken out, helping to bring supply-demand into better balance.

Doubleknit prices had sagged about 40 percent by early 1972. However, while feeder fibre prices have remained depressed, finished fabric prices have firmed somewhat, reflecting strong demand and the decrease in imports. Industry projections indicate that supply-demand and thus prices should continue stable through 1975.

Unfortunately, your purchase, coinciding as it did with the peak of the boom, was close to the high for this issue.

Kellwood adds new products

ST. LOUIS — Kellwood Co. plans two plants totaling $510,000 for manufacturing men's work shirts and inflatable rafts.

Both products are additions to the company's lines, Fred W. Wenzel, Kellwood Chairman and president, said.

Men's work shirts produced at a 44,000 square foot plant to be built at Independence, Mo., will be sold to Sears, Roebuck and Co. by Kellwood's Kingswell Group, Wenzel said. The plant will employ about 250 people when completed late this year.

Vinyl nylon rafts, Kellwood's first inflatable marine product, will be produced at a 15,000 square foot plant at Bland, Mo. The $110,000 plant is scheduled to open this month, Wenzel said.

Rafts for two, four or six persons will be sold to Sears and other recreation market customers.

Hawkins is the only first officer in the history of the airline to be promoted to captain. He was reared and educated in Salmon and joined the U.S. Air Force in 1955.

His interest and career in flying began during his service in the Air Force. He received his private pilot's license in 1968. He joined the flight department of Trans Magic Airlines in June, 1972.

TF man wins state office

COEUR D'ALENE — Paul W. Beck, Twin Falls public accountant, was named second vice president at a recent state accountant's meeting.

Beck was installed at the closing dinner of the annual convention of the Idaho Association of Public Accountants at the North Shore Motor Lodge.

Shops sold

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Collins Foods International said it bought eight Kentucky Fried Chicken outlets in the Napa area of Northern California for an undisclosed amount of cash and notes.

DON FOX, Twin Falls, has been appointed manager of the Napa welding supply operation here. Prior to that appointment, he was a field representative for the company, which maintains its Twin Falls outlet on South Park Avenue West.

Rubber rite

TF tire firm expands plant

TWIN FALLS — Norm's OK Tire Store, 556 Fourth Ave. W., has completed a $100,000 expansion which will provide a new pre-curing process.

Norm Tarter, who has operated the business the past 20 years, and his son, James Tarter, say the new process is sometimes called "cold capping" and is designed especially for truckers and over-the-road haulers. With the new system they receive additional service from the recapped tires.

Equipment for the new process is located across the street from the main business. Included is a curing chamber which can handle up to 14 large truck tires at one time.

There are three OK Tire stores in Twin Falls including those on Kimberly Road and Blue Lakes Boulevard. All will be using the new process for their customers by utilizing the additional facility at Norm's store on Truck Lane.

Tarter said the addition nearly doubles the size of the operation. Tarter has operated his business in the same location for about 20 years, and two years ago acquired the business building across the street. This has now been remodeled and an addition built to house the special pre-curing facility.

Mayor John Christofferson and Sharon Davis, Miss Twin Falls, officially opened the new business Thursday by cutting a "ribbon" of pre-cured recapping rubber.

During the coming week a grand opening is planned with interested persons invited to come in and inspect the new process and facilities.

Storage facility going up

TWIN FALLS — A rental storage building is under construction by Twin Falls Rentals Inc.

The building, which will contain 40 partitioned sections is on Eastland Drive south of Kimberly Road.

According to Jerry Robbins, co-owner with George Haney, Ellis Smith and Dr. William Toolson, the storage facility is for rent by individuals or companies for storage of household goods, snowmobiles, boats, equipment or "any other articles that need to be stored."

Many larger cities have these facilities, Robbins said, where the renter may keep all keys himself and have sole access to his storage space.

The corporation plans to build another 120 units at the site, "as soon as possible," Robbins said.

RV builder cuts production

FOREST CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Winnebago Industries Inc. said Thursday between one-fourth and one-third of the company's 2,200 employees will be laid off due to production cutbacks and plummeting sales. John V. Hanson, President of Winnebago, said between 500 and 700 jobs will be eliminated by June 25, when the company drops its motor home output to 250 units a week. Winnebago, which manufactures a variety of outdoor recreational vehicles, is the major employer in this Northern Iowa community of 3,000. Hanson announced Wednesday that, due to sharp retail sales drops, the firm would implement its third major production cutback in one month when the plant reopens June 25 after a two-week vacation shutdown.

Camp time

IT'S SUMMER camp time and like all church camps, Methodist Camp Sawtooth is being readied for the coming season. During a work party over Memorial Day weekend, the fireplace chimney on the caretaker's cabin was repaired by Vernon E. Smith, Twin Falls, on roof, and Luther Kaonco, Gooding, chairman of the conference camp committee.

Taxidermy hobby turns into full-time trade

By JOCELYN CLOWARD
TWIN FALLS

Taxidermist, Tom Schiermeier, though only 22 years-old has been mounting animals for 10 years.

Schiermeier began taxidermy work at age 12 when, "my father encouraged the hobby." His work has been on display in local businesses for several years, and the Idaho Fish and Game Department uses many of his mounts in displays. The department often provides him with subjects which have been killed illegally or have died of natural causes. The Bald Eagle on display at the College of Southern Idaho Gymnasium is one of the best known of his mounts. He also has a display in use by the Boy Scouts of America in a "National Jamboree exhibit."

Schiermeier, who is now in the taxidermy business full time, has done such work on a part time basis while attending school. He is a graduate of Twin Falls High School and has attended CSI and Idaho State University in the field of zoology. Last year, he instructed an adult education course in taxidermy at CSI, and in the past, he has given slide lectures for the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Recently moved into a building at 126 Second Ave. N., Schiermeier shows display animals, including a Rocky Mountain Goat which is his personal trophy, shot in the Stanley Basin area, an Asian pheasant, a young bear, a swan, which is a federally protected bird donated to him by a Hagerman fish hatchery after it died of natural causes, a wild mink, several goatskin rugs, and mounted deer, moose and elk heads.

Schiermeier showed a framed arrangement of duck and pheasant hanging heads down as though just bagged. The grouping is called a "dead mount," he said and is an increasingly popular item of wall decor. Novelty items constructed at the business include gunracks and ashtrays of game feet and horns.

Yukon grizzly

Popular wall hanging

TOM SCHIERMEIER, Twin Falls taxidermist, shows a "dead mount" of duck and pheasant, a popular mounted wall hanging. Schiermeier has been mounting animals since age 12, and has now expanded his part-time business hobby to full time.

Concert additions

TF Municipal Band season to start

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Municipal Band will begin its 64th consecutive annual series of concerts Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the City Park Bandshell.

June 14 is Flag Day and it is a fitting selection for the first concert of 1973 as the band has traditionally programmed a great deal of patriotic music. The band, perhaps the only such organization still playing in the US according to life member Domer Bertsch, will play each Thursday during the summer months for 11 or 12 weeks, depending on the weather.

The public is invited to the concerts sponsored by the Twin Falls Recreation Department. Programs for each concert are printed, courtesy of Ford Transfer and Storage Co., owned by Wayne Ford, who plays trumpet with the group.

Traditionally, the band has been part of Twin Falls summer activities. Members, dressed in red coats with gray trousers, come from many occupations and are, Bertsch, said, "all ages; from high school to us worn out people."

Bertsch, himself a 45-year member of the organization, remembers "playing with a bunch of kids. Then I played with them as grownups, then with their children, then with their grandchildren. When I get to their great-grandchildren, I'm going to quit," he said.

Dr. Orrin Fuller, who joined the band in 1914, wrote the band history for the group's 60th anniversary concert program, July 24, 1969. "The band has participated in practically every major event or celebration that has taken place during the past 60 years," he said. "It was a vital part of the community, and nothing of importance happened without the band taking part."

"I remember in 1910 they had bright green uniforms with red braids on them, and as a lad of 13 years, I thought they were the most beautiful things I had ever seen," he said.

During World War I, Dr. Fuller said, "the band always met at the corner of Shoshone and Main and played members entering the service down Shoshone Street to the depot. During World War II, departing members were met by the band at the bus depot.

"The band traveled to Wells in 1917 for a 4th of July celebration, over rugged dirt roads which took them all day to get there. It went to Boise and participated in the opening of the Main Line railroad."

"It played at the opening of the Hansen Bridge about 1916, and for many years was the official band of the Twin Falls County Fair before the days of loud speakers and canned music."

It played for many famous visitors to Twin Falls, and was present at the ground breaking of the College of Southern Idaho. Wherever anything was doing, the band was there.

The band now has eight lifetime members; Bertsch, Dr. Fuller, Jack Thorpe, Ford, Gerald Ridgeway, Reed Coulam, Allan DeVries and Charles Ratcliffe.

Officers for 1973 are Lawrence Curtis, president and assistant director; Del Slaughter, director; Thomas Breske, vice president; Coulam, secretary-treasurer; Ford, business manager; Warren Saunders and DeVries, trustees.

Season to start

PREPARING for the 64th Twin Falls Municipal Band Season beginning Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the City Park Bandshell are oldtimers, from left, Gerald Ridgeway, Kimberly, who has been with the band 43 years, Domer Bertsch, a 45 year member, and two-year newtimer, Jim Keefe, Kimberly.

TWIN FALLS — Are you using your refrigerator properly?

Remember, it is designed as a temporary storage for perishable foods. It is wise to review food storage tips to be sure you are getting the best from your refrigerator.

Eggs maintain their best quality in the refrigerator. Store large end up in egg storage containers or leave in the original carton. The best quality is maintained when stored in the original container up to two weeks.

When storing fresh meat, remove the outer wrapping and cover the cut surface loosely with wax paper so the air can circulate. Store prepackaged meat in the original wrapping. Keep hamburger and variety meats (liver, etc.) only two or three days, other meats up to seven days.

When storing fish or smoked meats, wrap them securely in paper or foil, or place in an airtight container to prevent transfer of odor. Maximum storage time to retain quality: fresh fish, one to two days; smoked meat, one week.

Wash and drain green leafy salad vegetables, place them in a plastic bag and store in the crisper. Maximum storage time to retain good quality two to three days.

Wash fresh fruit and tomatoes when ready to be used. Place melons in plastic bags to prevent transfer of odor. Storage time to retain quality two to three days.

Berries may be stored in the plastic basket or spread out on a tray for better air circulation. Wash and stem when ready to use. Maximum storage time to retain quality: two to three days.

It is important for milk to be covered and when possible stored in the original container. Use within four to five days.

Store dairy products such as butter or cheese in an airtight package to prevent odor transfer. To retain quality, cheese should be used within eight or nine days. If butter is not used within a short time, store in the freezer for up to a month.

Opened canned fruits and juices should be covered and refrigerated. If desired, they may be left in their original containers.

Leftovers may be stored for several days in the refrigerator. Cover tightly and place in the refrigerator soon after the original serving.

Winners

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Thursday night Duplicate Bridge Club met at Mary Cook's Bridge Studio.

North and south winners were Dan Meehl and Riley Burton, first; Mrs. M. D. Hartruff and Doris Ransom, second; Max Hogg and Mable Howarth, third.

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY G. MINK

Candlelight ceremony conducted in Minnesota

WENDELL — Hope Ann Harmon and Timothy Gale Mink were married in a 4 p.m. candlelight ceremony May 26 at the Nitchfield, Minn., First Lutheran Church.

Pastor Clifton E. Trued, First Lutheran Church, and Pastor James Larsen, Nitchfield Church of Christ, conducted the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon M. Harmon, Nitchfield, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Muncie J. Mink, Wendell.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore her sister's wedding gown, fashioned of white organza over taffeta. The gown featured a long train, long sheer camelot sleeves, a Victorian neckline and daisy lace trim.

A matching daisy lace headpiece held the fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a loose bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Dollerschell, Nitchfield. Bridesmaids were Heidi Harmon, Nitchfield, sister of the bride, Bonnie Mink, Wendell, sister of the bridegroom, and Vicki Blodgett, Hamilton, Mont.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Groomsmen were Rob Sloan, Twin Falls; Richard Dollerschell, Nitchfield, and Oscar Chillstrom, Baldwin, Wis., uncle of the bride.

Mrs. Robert Devereaux was organist. Keith Johnson was soloist. Lee Ann Hydeen and Ruben Gaytan were candlelighters. Marilyn and Diane Mink, sisters of the bridegroom, were in charge of flowers.

Following the ceremony, a

Buxom ladies blush

LONDON (UPI) — The metric system could embarrass the buxom ladies of London. But not if gentlemen of British fashion can help it.

A spokesman for the Knitting Industries Federation said Monday that clothing labels would retain measurements in inches as well as centimeters when Britain adopts the metric system next June.

"We cannot believe," said John Harrison, secretary of the federation, "that a middle female with vital statistics of 36-24-36 inches can ever see herself as measuring 90-60-90 centimeters."

"Metric measurements make women sound far larger," he said, "and, in our view, pose significant psychological barriers."

Thus women with a 40-inch bust might blush, Harrison said, if they had to ask for a dress with its metric equivalent of 100 centimeters.

Rexburg miss to wed

BURLEY — The engagement of Christine Jacobs to Jim Fillmore has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jacobs, Rexburg.

Jacobs' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fillmore, Burley. Miss Jacobs is a graduate of Ricks College, Rexburg, and is presently employed at the college library.

Fillmore is a graduate of Burley High School and has served an LDS Mission to southern California. He will attend Brigham Young University, Provo, this fall.

After finishing his BYU studies, he plans to attend the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic Medicine. The couple is planning an Aug. 18 wedding in the Logan, Utah, LDS Temple. They will reside in Provo.

The bride attended Boise State College, and will enter Multnomah School of the Bible in Portland. The bridegroom was graduated May 20 from Boise State College with a B. A. degree in communications. He will do graduate work at Multnomah School of the Bible before entering Western Conservative Baptist Seminary, Portland.

MR. AND MRS. MARK RUSSELL

Puerto Rican miss weds Twin Falls man

TWIN FALLS — Kathy Annette Russell, San Juan, Puerto Rico, and Mark Jeppson Russell were married by President Christensen of the Manti LDS Temple, Manti, Utah, May 24.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Hale Russell, Montevideo, Uruguay. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John D. Russell, Twin Falls.

The bride wore a gown designed by Nannette of New York styled in a simple princess-line and made of fabric solidly hand embroidered of typical Aho Poi Embroidery of Paraguay. Her floor-length veil was held by a bridal crown made of the same fabric. She carried an old fashioned nosegay of white daisies, roses and baby's breath.

Sheryl Christine Russell, Madison, Wis., sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Angelle LeBaron, Las Vegas, Nev.; Jaymee Shiner, Coalinga, Calif.; Mrs. Huey Ward, Twin Falls; Janna Russell, Montevideo, Uruguay; and Michelle Pailon, Jamestown, R.I.

Rex Jeppson Russell, Twin Falls, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Users were James B. Lindahl, Garden Grove, Calif.; Kelsey Gonzales, Salt Lake City, Utah; and Bryan Russell, Brigham Young University, brother of the bride.

Burley couple celebrates 50th

BURLEY — Mr. and Mrs. Leo Banner will celebrate their 50th Wedding Anniversary June 17 at an open house given by their family.

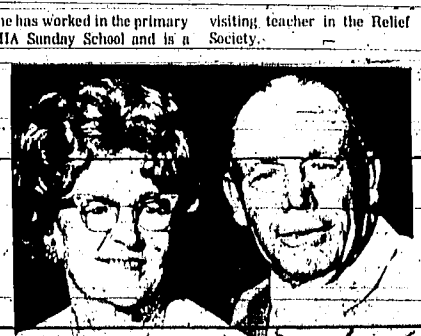

Relatives and friends are invited to call at the Banner home, 300 South and 250 East of Burley, between 3 and 6 p.m. Sunday. The Banners request no gifts.

The couple was married June 14, 1923, in Burley and the marriage was later solemnized in the Logan LDS Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. Banner have seven children: Golden Banner, Heyburn; Mrs. Ora Whitaker, Rupert; Samuel Banner, Ontario, Ore.; Curtis Banner, Roseville, Calif.; Mrs. Reva Mitchell, Burley; and Mervin Banner and Seth Banner, both Salt Lake City. The Banners lost one son and one daughter in infancy.

They have 33 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Banner was born in Upton, Utah, on May 31, 1903, and moved to Burley with his parents when he was 5 years old. A life-long farmer, he is a member of the High Priest Quorum of Unity Ward of the LDS Church and secretary of that quorum. He is also a home teacher for the church. Mrs. Banner was born Nov. 3, 1903, in Hixby and moved to Burley with her family in 1918.

Hobby becomes trade

Schiermeier makes fur rugs from pelts brought in by hunters. His wife, Farla, helps with making the felt backings and with linings for the fur coats which are a new item Schiermeier is now producing. He showed an Alaskan wolf coat and a silver fox coat which he had recently made.

"We had to buy an industrial sewing machine that will sew through leather," he said. "Also we have to do whiplash stitching so that it can't be seen through the fur." Patches of sparse fur are masked by dyeing the hair underneath, he said.

To keep the mounted animals clean, Schiermeier said, "we brush the birds with a soft paint brush and the furs with a wire brush."

Schiermeier will now book for licensed outfitters and guides in Idaho. "Idahoans just go hunting," he said. "Those who want to be booked are usually Californians."

The Schiermeiers have plans to add other furnishings to their inventory. "We would like to work with items like zebra skin furniture, fur pillows and other game decor items," Schiermeier said.

He does his own skinning, then salts the skins before rolling them into boxes and sending them to the tannery. He also does his own mounting of fish and game birds and small animals. Larger animals he sends to a Butte, Mont., outfit, "one of the largest in the world." The tanner doesn't process until 10 to 20 thousand skins are ready to be done at once. The skins then are put through a borax preserving and mothproofing process, he said.

"We get the jaws and heads from an outfit in Denver," Schiermeier said. It takes too long for us to construct them. For mounting the small animals, we get artificial tongues and glass eyes. I plan to make my own forms for the larger animals eventually," he said. "I do make the paper mache forms for birds and fish."

"I keep the small animals and skins in the deep freeze," Schiermeier said. "This is an easy way to preserve them until I'm ready to work on them."

He is now working on two unusual items, a Hawaiian sheep and a Grizzly shot by a Jerome resident in the Yukon territory.

"You have to understand anatomy very well," he said.

Alaskan wolf fur

FARLA Schiermeier models a coat of Alaskan wolf fur, made by her husband. Tom's help from her on the lining. The coat is sewed with special machinery to whiplash the pelts so that the sewing will not be seen.

Couple recites vows in Kamiah ceremony

TWIN FALLS — Nancy Ann Goodloe and Terrell Ray Huddleston recited wedding vows May 27 at the Kamiah Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Walter Moffett performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of lilacs and pink peonies. The nuptials were marked with spring green pew bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Goodloe, Kamiah, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Huddleston, Twin Falls.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white silk organza with imported Swiss lace outlining the sheer neckline and center skirt which extended to a chapel-length train. Venise lace encircled the throat, hemline and sheer wrist-length sleeves.

Her four-tiered veil was edged with Venise lace and was held by a crystal beaded tiara. She carried a bouquet of spring green carnations and baby's breath centered with a large orchid and tied with streamers of stock, ivy and white ribbon.

Maid of honor was Patti Olin, Coeur d'Alene. Jan Clements, Emmett; Bonnie Dobson, Horseshoe Bend, and Sandy Wakagawa, Weiser, were bridesmaids.

Best man was Bruce Rieman, Twin Falls. Tom Seesee, Hammett, and Kelly and Dennell Huddleston, brothers of the bridegroom, were ushers.

As the couple left the church, the bride presented her mother with flowers from her bouquet.

The couple was honored at a reception following the ceremony in the church annex. Assisting were aunts of the bride, Mrs. Jane Ballou and Mrs. Charlotte Johnson, who assisted Mrs. Beulah Wilson in cutting and serving the cake. Mrs. Myra Olsen served punch and Mrs. Hope McNeil poured coffee. Mrs. Norma Dazoy and Nancy Brooks cared for the gifts. Janet Hawkins presided at the guest book.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Kamiah High School. She graduated cum laude from the University of Idaho in 1973 with a major in medical technology. She will begin her internship at Deaconess Hospital in Spokane in August.

The bridegroom was graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1969 and from the University of Idaho in 1973 with a degree in zoology. He is presently employed in Coeur d'Alene, where the couple resides at 1201 Lincolnway, following their return from a honeymoon to Lake Tahoe and California.

The parents of the bridegroom entertained at a rehearsal dinner at the Three Rivers banquet room May 26.

TF couple will observe 60th Wedding Anniversary June 17

MR. AND MRS. DAVID G. MITCHELL

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. David G. Mitchell are celebrating their 60th Wedding Anniversary with an open house.

The event will be held at the Senior Citizen's Lounge, 421 2nd Ave. W., Twin Falls, June 17 from 2 to 5 p.m.

The reception is being hosted by the couple's daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry (Wilma) Wellhousen, North Little Rock, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Jack (Louise) Bates, Olympia, Wash., and the Senior Citizen Center personnel.

David Mitchell and Iva Shank were married in Fruit, Colo., June 3, 1913. Before moving to Twin Falls in 1969, they retired from their farm north of Shoshone after 57 years on the site they had developed from raw sage brush.

The couple's friends are invited to join them on this memorable occasion. The family requests no gifts.

LOUISE TODD engaged

Former resident engaged

WENDELL — Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Todd, Boise, former Wendell residents, announce the engagement of their daughter, Louise, to Kelly Moore.

Moore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John William Moore, Pocatello.

Miss Todd is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Pierce, Wendell.

Miss Todd and Moore are sophomores at the College of Idaho, Caldwell.

A wedding date has not yet been set.

Do not use insecticides on clothing or furniture.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received at the Twin Falls Public Library have been released by library officials.

"Tales of the Table" by Barbara Norman — Food-lovers — here is a feast for the eyes.

It is the month-watering story of man's infatuation with food ever since the grain patch at the cave door.

"Tombstone Myth and Reality" by Odie B. Faulk. The true story of a town "too tough to die" — a town that created its own myth to stay alive.

"Listen to the Wild" by Susanne Hart. This well-illustrated book offers flashes of humor, drama and adventure by an author with a special sensitivity for wild things and wild places.

"Catch a Killer" by George A. Woods. In this psychological story of suspense, a boy, a killer and a detective are woven into a bizarre pattern of dependence, destruction and death.

"Anna" by E. M.

Almedinger. With the publication of Anna, a four generation account of country life in Tsarist Russia during a 200-year period is told.

"There's a Seal in My Sleeping Bag" by Lyn Hancock. Wonderfully funny, informative spunky account of a wildlife biologist's wife. It's a delight to nature lovers and lively proof that marriage can be a bed of roses even when you all too often sleep on a bed of rocks.

"The Devil Tree" by Jerry

Kostick. Careening through the circus of self-searching drugs, crime and encounter therapy, Jonathan James Whalen comes to discover the escape route has no exit; for some in America, coming-of-age is coming apart.

"The Second Oldest Profession" by Jess Carr. Since everyone thinks he knows what the oldest profession is, Jess Carr allows that the making and selling of strong spirits might have to be called mankind's second most enduring enterprise.

3 surviving Dionne quints gather for 39th birthday amid memories

ST. BRUNO, Quebec (UPI) — Between 4:20 and 5:20 on the morning of May 28, 1934, in a small town buried in the northern Ontario backwoods, 25-year-old Elzire Dionne became the one in every 57 million mothers to give birth to quintuplets.

"What will people think of us," she said. "They will think we are pigs."

The father, Oliva, a farmer with an annual cash income of about $100, worried about the five more mouths he suddenly had to feed.

And the country doctor, looking at the five small girls, predicted they would never survive the night.

Exactly 39 years later, in another small town just a dozen miles outside of Montreal, three surviving sisters of the now famous Dionne quintuplets celebrated their birthday.

Annette, happily married to an energetic finance company executive, is the mother of three lively boys. Jean-Francois, Charles and Eric — aged 11 to 14. With a 10-room house, a full-size family and a garden to mind, she still finds time for her daily two-mile walk and a few courses in physical fitness.

Cecile, too, is a busy housewife with three boys — Claude, Patrice, and Bertrand — roughly the same ages as Annette's children, as well as 10-year-old Elizabeth.

She admits "it takes a lot of patience and courage to raise children without a father." It was eight years ago that she separated from her husband.

sound technician Philippe Jan- gles, only a couple of years after one of their twin sons, Bruno, died following 15 months of hopeless deformity since birth.

"I have learned that it is useless to cry over what has happened in the past, to have regrets," Cecile once said. "It is better to take it the way it comes and go on."

Yvonne, who never married, is now working in a kindergarten after three vain attempts to become a nun, two trips to Europe, a visit to India and several years as an artist.

The fourth sister Emilie, was 19 when she succumbed during an epilepsy attack in a remote nun's rest home in 1954. The fifth sister, Marie, a separated mother of two, lived so alone that when she died of natural causes in a Montreal apartment in 1970, it was three days before her body was discovered. The quint's embittered parents live 300 miles away in Callander, Ontario. They have not been close for at least two decades.

What happened between these two small towns and those 39 years is a story which only now shows signs of ending in happiness.

Within 48 hours of their birth, a worried and confused Papa Dionne had agreed by phone to exhibit the quintuplets at the Chicago World's Fair. He insisted the quint's not be moved without doctor's approval, however.

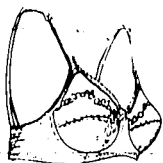

Dr. Allan Roy Dufoe said it would take months.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Even tho, for the most part, the United States is "out" of Viet Nam, we still have thousands of men stationed in Southeast Asia as well as in other countries abroad, so I wonder if you would consider running the column you wrote several years ago, signed GI.

It made a tremendous impact on the servicemen when it ran in the Stars and Stripes. Many of them cut it out and sent it to their wives. And months later I was asked for additional copies. Thanking you in advance.

U. S. ARMY CHAPLAIN

DEAR CHAPLAIN: With pleasure. And here it is:

Advice
still same

DEAR ABBY: My problem is one that bothers thousands of other GIs so I hope you will print your answer because it is needed badly. I am a happily married man with a wonderful wife and two small children back in the States. I've been in Korea for four months. After living a normal life for three years, what is a young, healthy man supposed to do for his physical needs?

There are 12 women for every GI over here and the women practically throw themselves at our feet. Don't get me wrong, Abby, I love my wife and always will, but I have a long hitch over here and I am only human. This letter is sincere and I am not ashamed to sign my name, but if you use it, please sign me.

DEAR GI: Assume for a moment that I received the following letter.

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman with a wonderful husband and two small children. My husband has been in Korea for four months. After living a normal married life for three years, what is a young, healthy woman supposed to do for her physical needs? There are plenty of men around and when they learn my husband is in Korea they practically throw themselves at my feet.

Don't get me wrong, Abby, I love my husband and always will, but he's going to be gone a long time and I am only human.

WELL, GI: I would tell that woman to keep busy as possible with her duties and as many wholesome activities as her time and energy permit. I'd suggest reading, exercising, physical exercise, and yes, even prayer! I'd tell her to stay sober and to avoid temptation and to write you every day! And that GI is my answer to you and to all your buddies in the same lonesome boat.

DEAR ABBY: My 4-year-old daughter likes to "ride horse" on my foot occasionally. My wife charges that this is "seductive and obscene." What do you think?

A MINISTER

DEAR MINISTER: "Obscenity" (like beauty) sometimes lies in the eye of the beholder.

Buhl couple exchanges vows

BUHL — Mary C. Rice and Kelly R. Lewis were married in May 28 rites at the Catholic Church.

The ceremony was performed by Father M. McNeill before an altar decorated with yellow pompon chrysanthemums and white gladioli. The aisles were marked with yellow pew bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Rice, Buhl, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Lewis, Buhl.

For her marriage, the bride wore a white floor-length gown of nylon organza with an empire waistline. The gown featured a mandarin collar, lace capon bouffant sleeves with deep lace cuffs and was trimmed with re-embroidered Chantilly lace. The lace had seed pearls sewn on it.

Her full-length veil was held by a tulle headpiece and trimmed with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of daisies, yellow roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. John Conrad, Buhl, was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Mary Lewis, sister of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Ralph Assendrup played organ music. Mrs. Frank Karel, Mrs. Wayne Iverson and Teresa Karel presented vocal numbers.

The bride's table was attended by Mrs. R. R. Brousseau, Mrs. R. J. Wilson, aunts of the bride; Mrs. Lee

MR. AND MRS. KELLY R. LEWIS

Pearson, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. David Rice, sister-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Robert Rice, Mrs. Donald Rice, Terri Rice, Robert Paul Rice and David J. Rice cared for gifts. Tami Rice and Sophia Rice assisted at guest tables which were decorated with yellow iris in brandy snifters.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over green. Yellow candles in crystal candelabra flanked the three-tiered cake which was decorated with yellow daisies. Daisies and green foliage surrounded the cake which was topped with white wedding bells.

Special guests were Mrs. Cecilia Newman, Redding, Cal., grandmother of the bride; Mrs. Amy Lewis, Nampa, grandmother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chambers, Buhl, grandparents of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Merle Gilb, the bridegroom's great aunt.

Out-of-state guests attended from Salt Lake City, Utah, and Sacramento, Vallejo, Redding, Fullerton and McCleod, Calif.

Tough trading law passes

Sunday, June 10, 1973 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 37

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Grain exporters whose secretive tactics left the public in the dark during critical periods of last year's Russian wheat deal would have to report their dealings promptly in the future under legislation approved by the Senate.

Sponsored by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., whose permanent investigations subcommittee currently is conducting a thorough investigation of the wheat deal, the tough new mandatory program would require reports to the Agriculture Department within 72 hours of any grain or soybean export sale.

The Agriculture Department would be required to make the information public "promptly."

Jackson's amendment was inserted by voice vote and without argument Thursday into the Senate's omnibus farm bill. The measure, which sets up a new "target price" income protection plan for major crops, was scheduled to reach a final vote this afternoon.

Senate approval of the target price system for grains and cotton was foreshadowed when a move to phase out income supplement payments on major crops was buried by an 80-14 vote Thursday.

Unlike a looser, voluntary export reporting program, which the Agriculture Department will launch in early July, the Jackson amendment provides penalties of one year in jail, a

Jackson said he wanted to head off a repetition of last year's developments when massive export sales, which he said created problems for U.S. consumers in the form of higher food prices, were made before the public was fully aware of what happened. Even government officials said they did not know of some key early transactions.

Under the proposed new reporting plan, Jackson said, data from exporters will give the Commerce Department the information needed to determine whether it should invoke the provisions of existing laws allowing export controls on U.S. farm products.

Fuel stretching hints offered

MOSCOW — There are several measures farmers can take to conserve motor fuel, according to Roy Taylor, University of Idaho extension agricultural engineer.

Such measures make good sense from an economical standpoint, they take on increased importance in view of the current tight motor fuel situation, Taylor says.

To make motor fuel go farther, he suggests:

- When possible, match tractors to the job to be done. Use small tractors for the lighter jobs. Use diesel tractors where possible because gasoil is tighter than diesel fuel.
- Operate equipment at proper engine and field speeds. Keep tractor motor and other fuel-burning engines properly tuned for maximum efficiency.
- Shut off the tractor engine if stops are going to be for some time. Idling often uses more fuel than restarting the motor.
- Move large equipment by truck instead of driving it several miles on the highways.
- When possible, postpone operations such as ditch clearing and land leveling. Such jobs might be put off until the fuel situation improves from the present peak use period.
- Work fields the long way whenever possible. This cuts down the number of turns and results in more efficient use of fuel.

Taylor suggests reduced tillage practices such as planting and cultivating only when necessary and coupling machines together where possible to reduce number of trips over the field. For example, farmers might disc, plant and apply herbicide all in one operation.

Shoshone board sets July meet

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone District Grazing Advisory Board will hold a field meeting July 11.

The meeting at the district office, 112 Cherry St. starts at 9 a.m.

The agenda for the field meeting will be to tour different range areas; to discuss and make recommendations on different grazing problems. The area to be toured will be between Shoshone and Sun Valley.

The meeting will be open to the public who will be required to furnish their own transportation. Time at different stops will be available for brief statements by members of the public.

Lunar booster

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Earth plants treated with moon soil grow better and live longer than ordinary plants, according to tests conducted by Vernon Scholes, a biology professor at the University of South Alabama.

"We were looking for plant pathogens," Scholes said Monday, referring to elements that might be harmful to plant life, "but then we noticed that for some reason the plants that had been treated with lunar material grew better and lived longer than those without it."

Scholes carried out the tests for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, using moon soil brought back by astronauts. He said the experiments involved single cells and entire plants.

He said the moon dirt apparently stimulates the chlorophyll in the plants.

New cow vaccine said beef booster

By LEON PITT
Chicago Sun-Times writer.

CHICAGO — A University of Illinois scientist has announced development of a cattle vaccine which he said can increase the world's supply of beef by at least 20 per cent.

The announcement by Dr. Miodrag Ristic, a professor of veterinary pathology at the U of I in Champaign-Urbana, was hailed by an Iowa State University veterinarian as "a major breakthrough" in the war against the dreaded cattle blood disease called anaplasmosis.

The disease, Ristic told a press conference in Chicago, causes annual losses estimated at $50 million in the potential supply in Southern California, Texas, the Gulf Coast states and Florida.

Anaplasmosis is transmitted by blood parasites such as ticks, horseflies and mosquitoes who suck the animals' blood, causing weight loss and sometimes death.

Ristic, who has worked on anaplasmosis for more than a decade, said that a one-milligram dose of the vaccine, when injected intramuscularly, provides cattle with lifelong protection.

He said that tests conducted since 1969 by the Mexican government on 30,000 cattle found the vaccine provided "100 per cent protection against death and sickness."

Dr. Bruce Hull, assistant professor of veterinary medicine at Iowa State University in Ames, said in a telephone interview, "The development is a major breakthrough if it can be injected just once and protects the cattle all their lives."

Hull and Ristic said some seasonal losses of cattle are felt in parts of Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota and Wisconsin, where horseflies carry the disease.

Ristic said that with the vaccine, produced from sheep blood in liquid nitrogen, "rich, new grazing grounds in semi-tropical and tropical areas" could now be used in the raising of cattle to increase the world's beef supply by "at least 20 per cent."

He said those areas, most of which are in Mexico, Central and South America, are not now being used because of infestations of disease-bearing ticks.

Ristic said he expects the vaccine to be marketed commercially in Latin American countries within the next two months, and in about six months in the United States.

"American cattlemen will have to wait a little longer because of Department of Agriculture licensing requirements," he said.

Once marketed, he estimated that the per dosage cost would be about $2, compared with the $20 now being charged for antibiotics used to combat the disease.

Alabama has 50 inches of precipitation annually as compared to the national average of 39 inches.

Workshops slated at Gem 4-H meet

MOSCOW — Delegates to the Gem State 4-H Club Congress will find their week at the University of Idaho June 10-15 educational as well as fun, according to Dorothy Hole, assistant state 4-H leader.

In addition to assembly speakers, 20 workshops and 22 classes offer opportunities to expand knowledge and learn how to teach others. Each delegate attends one workshop and two classes. Emphasis is on participation rather than a traditional classroom experience, Mrs. Hole said.

Subjects are designed to reflect a variety of teen-age interests.

Wednesday afternoon, June 12, features career exploration. Delegates will be divided into three categories by their interest in college, vocational or trade school, or on-the-job training. Each of these divisions will give background, experience required and opportunities, Mrs. Hole said.

Some workshops present an opportunity for personal growth such as the workshops in leadership, personality development, and morals, values and personal relationships. Suzanne Guthrie of California will lead a workshop in what leadership is and how to lead others.

Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy seeks energy council

BOISE (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy urged Gov. Cecil D. Andrus today to create by executive order an energy council in case of an energy crisis in Idaho in the near future.

"Since my return to Idaho following a recent meeting of the national lieutenant governors executive committee on resources and energy, I have made extensive inquiries of both energy users and producers regarding the energy crisis which was the subject of that meeting," Murphy said in a letter to Andrus.

"While it would appear that there is no immediate crisis in the State of Idaho, all parties seem to agree that there is an unknown factor as to whether a real problem could develop here during the summer and fall months."

"If such a crisis occurs, the question of whether it is real or artificial then becomes academic," he said.

"With those considerations in mind, I recommend the creation of an energy council, by executive order, on a temporary basis, to advise the state on appropriate measures that can be taken to ease the impact of such a crisis on the citizens of Idaho and to assure the continuation of vital services."

He suggested such a council should include representation from the Land Department, Public Utilities Commission, agriculture commissioner, Water Resource Board, Nuclear Energy Commission and the Department of Commerce and Development.

Clown marries showgirl

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI) — Standing upright there was a two-foot difference but the wedding went on all the same.

Sandra Ronda, a 5-foot, 8-inch showgirl, married 3-foot, 8-inch James Brisco Thursday as their colleagues from the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus looked on.

Shoshone children swim at Gooding

SHOSHONE — Swimming lessons will be held at the Gooding City Pool for Shoshone children from June 25 to July 6. City Council members decided Tuesday night.

A supervisor will be named and exact time for registration at the city hall announced later, Mrs. Claude Chess, city clerk, said today.

At the Tuesday night council meeting, Edward B. Savaria and Donald Swoop from the Bureau of Land Management met with the council to discuss water, sewer and road service to the BLM property in the southwest portion of the city. It is in this area that a new BLM office and work complex is planned.

A leave-of-absence was granted Rex Gallimore, city sanitation engineer, who is in a Boise hospital recovering from a gunshot wound in the stomach. John Soderberg is collecting garbage for the city at this time.

New building permits were issued to Alvin Pennington to move a trailer house to his lots on Greenwood Street; to the Catholic Church to move a building to the church property, and to Ed Sandy to add two rooms to his residence.

What you're saying . . .

Life on other planets?

QUESTION: Do you believe in life on other planets? Do you believe in UFO's? What would you do if you met an alien from another planet?

Ernest Sweet, Kimberly:

"No, definitely not (UFO's). I'm not really convinced that other planets exist in that sense (with life). I think if there were UFO's they would have established themselves more positively by now.

"I don't believe in anything supernatural or extraterrestrial.

"Well, if it was definitely proved that somebody from another planet was here, I'd certainly engage him in conversation to find out what his own planet was like, and to find out if they have the same social problems we have here."

Edna Castro, Twin Falls:

"Yes, I believe in UFO's.

"Yes, I saw something that no one could explain what it was. It was a bright light and it moved extremely fast.

"I don't know I would probably panic (upon meeting an alien).

Lloyd Peterson, Twin Falls:

"As far as UFO's are concerned I've never seen one myself, so I'm not going to believe it until I do.

"As far as life on other planets, life's complicated enough on this one. I'm not going to worry about if there's any elsewhere.

"Circumstances would be a lot there (meeting an alien), because there would always be the element of shock in difference of looks and you'd have to decide on the spur of the moment whether it was hostile or not. To me it would be dependent on the shock of how much different he was from me."

Nita Hopkins, Burley:

"Yes, I really do. I get in arguments all the time on it. I just don't think that only one planet in the whole universe can have life on it. I believe that God is the power and the center of the universe, and therefore he did not focus life in just one place.

"In Malta they just saw one (UFO) recently, but they didn't put it in the newspaper because they were afraid of being chastised.

"I think I wouldn't be afraid to meet them. I think I'd like to have a conversation with them, hoping they were not hostile."

Debbie Welch, Jerome:

"In a way, I think that there should be, but it would be kind of hard.

"Yes (UFO's). Yes (she has seen them). It was a little ways up there. It was round-shaped and everything.

"I'd be scared. Yes (would talk to them if convinced they were safe), about the way they live and everything."

Ralph Lee, Bellevue:

"Yes. I don't know. There's a lot of room out there. Somebody ought to live out there, I guess.

"I don't know about that (UFO's) if there are, they're too advanced for us.

"Probably run. I'd probably be a little curious, but fear would get the best of me, I guess."

Rock Hudson Has Reason For Acting

Born in Winnetka, Illinois, he graduated from New Trier High School with the hope of studying architecture. But World War II was in full swing, so he became a Naval Air Force mechanic instead.

Out of the Navy, he did not elect to take advantage of the G. I. Bill for college, but stayed in government service, this time as a mail carrier. But too many people on his route told him he had the perfect looks and build to be an actor. It was enough to turn his head and feet toward Hollywood.

There, he became a truck driver until a friend steered him to an agent who changed the young truck driver's name from Roy Fitzgerald to Rock Hudson and got him signed to a movie contract with Universal Studios.

Sixty movies later (in 1971), the same studio signed Hudson to one of television's most lucrative contracts: Half a million dollars for eight episodes of "McMillan & Wife." Let's take a look at the series in 3D (Difference, Depth and Durability).

1. Difference: Many people were surprised when Hudson went into television. He accepted the role, he says, because it contained comedy as well as mystery. "Light roles have always been my forte in films, so this seemed perfect."

The show centers around a criminal lawyer, Stewart McMillan, who has been coaxed into the job of police commissioner by San Francisco's Mayor. Mac and his light-headed wife, Sally, are a very loving couple, and this constantly draws them into cases where one might expect the commissioner to go it alone. And this makes the series decidedly different from any other since "The Avengers."

2. Depth: In spite of the lack of critical acclaim over the years, Rock Hudson is more than a face and physique. He can act. "I had to find out the hard way how different TV is from movies," he says. "What you're doing is going to be seen on a very small screen, and that means you have to punch up your work, play the scenes bigger than life." This realization has made noticeable improvement in Hudson's portrayal of Mac.

But as far as depth of talent is concerned, first mention should go to Susan Saint James. There is no underestimating the importance of the fresh, kooky approach she brings to her role as Mac's wife. She is the spark of spontaneity and reality which so often (too often) makes the difference between boredom and believability. "I love this show," she has said more than once. "I'm having a wonderful time doing it." And somehow she manages to inject this enthusiasm into her role.

3. Durability: The ratings have been good, but they have never equalled "Columbo's," and there are indications that "McMillan & Wife" is probably the weakest of the four Sunday Mystery Movies. Why?

Rock Hudson, himself, put his finger on the problems a few months ago. One of this season's episodes had him playing two roles — Mac and a hood who looked like Mac. Explaining why he was so pleased with this opportunity to play a different character, Hudson said, McMillan is Tess Trueheart onward and upward all the time. With a character like that, you reach a point where you choke on the lines."

Precisely. And so does he audience. It is time creator-producer Leonard Stern gave Stewart McMillan a much more fully developed character. Either that, or change the series title to "Tess Trueheart & Wife."

Queen Elizabeth Will Attend Burnett Show

A special broadcast of "The Carol Burnett Show" will originate from the new multi-million dollar opera house in Sydney, Australia, during the official opening of the building, a prestigious event to be attended by Queen Elizabeth II. The program will be taped the week of Oct. 20 for broadcast later in the 1973-74 season on the CBS Television Network.

In addition to the Queen, other English and Australian dignitaries will attend the taping of the show, which will star Miss Burnett, with her series regulars Harvey Korinn, Lyle Waggoner and Vicki Lawrence. Two guest stars are to be announced.

"The Carol Burnett show" has the honor of being the first television show to originate from the Sydney Opera House. The building, which took 13 years to complete and cost many times its original three-million dollar estimate, commands an impressive view of the Sydney harbor near the famed harbor bridge. The structure has become world-famous because of its original design, representing the wings of birds in flight.

They Have A Soft Rock Beat

"The Messengers" In Concert

Swinging to a soft rock beat and singing of love, understanding and joy, 20 youngsters from Memphis, Tenn., "The Messengers," will be in Twin Falls in a free concert at the City Park Bandshell Friday night, June 15 starting at 8 p.m.

The Messengers, who have captivated audiences in more than 36 states and in Mexico, have been designated official goodwill ambassadors for the State of Tennessee and for the City of Memphis. Their tour is sponsored as a public service by the international system of Holiday Inns.

The singers, whose ages range from 17 to 22, donate their time and talents to promote world understanding and friendship through their music. Ken Brixey, a year-round employee of the Holiday Inn System, trains The Messengers and handles their appearances.

Over the past two years the group has sung for more than 40 million people and has logged more than 45,000 miles via bus or plane. They appeared in a White House concert in June, 1971, and were invited back a year later to sing in the rotunda of the U. S. Senate office Building.

They have appeared on more than 75 television shows throughout the United States and Mexico, including the Mike Douglas Show last summer. Eight states in the U.S. and one in Mexico have made them honorary citizens.

The group's songs often reflect strong feelings of brotherhood and goodwill, presented in soft rock or folk beat, but with a style that bridges social, geographic and generation gaps. The singers are as at home appearing in one of the many churches where they are invited to perform as they are on a college campus.

accompaniment with guitar, bass, organ, drums and assorted rhythm instruments.

Brixey, who has directed the musical group since its beginning, attributed the singers' popularity with people of all ages to their message of hope and happiness in their songs, to their unique style, and to the personalities of the young performers.

"It's virtually impossible," the director said, "for an older person to tune out a youngster who is reaching out to shake his hand, smiling at him, and singing of the love of mankind even though the message is delivered through the medium of contemporary music.

"An older man came up to me after a church concert recently and said, 'It's amazing how good rock music sounds when sung by a group like this,'" Brixey related.

"Singing of faith, honor and love is The Messengers' way of becoming involved and it is one message that, apparently, a lot of people are eager to hear."

Dreams, Ships And Words Explored On Make A Wish

"Make a Wish," ABC News' children's television series, focuses on the many meanings and associations of the words "Dream," and "Ship," Sunday, June 10.

Host Tom Chapin performs the "Make a Wish" theme song and sings and plays two original musical compositions based on the subject words.

In a reverie over the word "Dream," Chapin muses that if he were a Dream he might be a good dream, a bad dream, or even a nightmare, which would be a horse of a different color.

He might also be a dreamboat, dreamy-eyed, a daydream, a dream of glory or a play by Edward Albee titled "An American Dream."

"Make a Wish" also takes its audience on a visit to the Institute of Parapsychology at Durham, N. C., where Dr. Louisa Brine illustrates experiments in the phenomena of extrasensory perception.

Next, Chapin finds himself adrift in a sea of concepts and associations suggested by the word "Ship."

There are steamships, battleships, cruise ships, and Liberty ships he notes; not to mention ship-shape, the ship of state, shipwrecks and lordships.

At Point Loma in Southern California, "Make a Wish" meets the world's leading expert on whales, Dr. Ted Walker, who describes how, if not cared properly by humans, whales may well become extinct.

"Make a Wish" has been recommended for viewing by the National Education Association and the National Catholic Education Association.

Philosophy based on Oriental Reasoning

Presenting a philosophy of life is heavy stuff for the television screen, especially when the philosophy is based on the somewhat convoluted reasoning of the Orient.

But that is what has been showing up lately on the ABC Television Network's "Kung Fu" (Thursdays, 9-10 PM, PT), starring David Carradine as a Chinese-American Buddhist priest living as a fugitive in the Old West.

And, instead of turning the audience off, the series' philosophic statements are turning it on.

The statements, noticed by many viewers despite the excitement of the show's action, add up to a commitment to lead a peaceful life in harmony with nature. That is also a simple and brief definition of the science-of kung-fu which is the eponym of the series.

The individual statements scattered through the series' episodes, however, are not simplistic. Many are the sort of sayings, deceptively simple and direct on the surface, which lodge in the brain and tease it with a multiplicity of meanings.

Here are some examples:

"The mountain is beautiful with snow. But after it loses its snow, green grows from underneath. In every loss there is gain. As in every gain there is loss."

"The best fighters do not make displays of anger. The wisest antagonist is he who wins without engaging in battle. This is the power of not contending. It is how the weak overcome the strong."

"The teacher is only as rain to the soul. He cannot grow pomegranates from mustard seed."

"A strong man will struggle to kill or be killed; a peaceful man will struggle always to preserve life. Of these, which is the truly brave man?"

Life In Texas On Camera 3

"To Sarah Lee," a short film about life in Texas along Highway 90, will be presented on "Camera Three" Sunday, June 10 on the CBS Television Network.

The film was directed by Richard Black and produced by Peter Gill. As a portrait of man on the land, it evokes that quality of wide-open space that makes man feel so small in relationship to his surroundings, yet so large within himself.

Black and Gill collected the materials for this film in several months of living and working along Highway 90 with their crew. In this "Camera Three" broadcast, the young film-makers briefly outline their intentions and techniques in making the film.

With original music by local musicians, "To Sarah Lee" presents such Texas scenes as a cattle auction, a poker game, and children waiting beside an endless road for a school bus — a world most people only pass through, at 75 miles an hour.

TV Tinderbox

We interrupt for this important message . . . a game of question and answer from the Mail Box. Bet you can't get ten right! Just answer yes or no.

1. Is Roger Moore the "love and leave" type like the Saint and James Bond characters he plays?
2. During the filming of "Getaway", didn't Sally Struthers, "All In The Family", have an affair with director Sam Peckinpah?
3. I know Charles Bronson has been in several TV series, but has he made many movies?
4. Joan Blondell must be at least 20 years older than Liz Taylor, but my girlfriend claims they were married to the same man. True?
5. Is Robert Redford's latest a chick named Karen Black?
6. The gal who plays Julie Segal on "One Life To Live" - has she ever done commercials?
7. Does Liza Minnelli see herself as anything like Pookie Adams, the crazy character she played in "The Sterile Cuckoo"?

8. I know Dinah Shore has been married, but what about Burt Reynolds. Has he been married too?

9. Was Mickey Rooney actually offered the role of Arche Bunker and turned it down?

10. Is Jane Fonda still invited to Hollywood parties?

11. Gene Kelly was honored at the Thaliaus Ball and now I hear there are two books on his life. Does this mean retirement?

12. I read Dino Narizzano (Dr. Len Whiting on "Search For Tomorrow") is trying to adopt a child. Is he married?

13. I saw a picture of Mae West, and she looks like she's been preserved in alcohol. Does she share W.C.'s love of the bottle?

14. Wasn't Janice Whitmore another of those fine actors who got his "education" in New York's Hell's Kitchen?

15. Has the cancellation of "Bridget Loves Bernice" stuck any pins in the David-Meredith romance?

Edge Of Night Drama Gathers In First Emmy

"The Edge of Night," long-running serial which received an Emmy Award as the best daytime dramatic program in the television Academy Awards ceremonies in Los Angeles, has the distinction of being the first series to be honored in a separate daytime drama category in the 25-year history of the awards.
Serial dramas have been eligible in the past for consideration in a daytime achievement area for programs and individuals, but this year the highly popular programs were judged by the Academy as meriting a category all their own.

"The Edge of Night" — with the award going to its producer, Erwin Nicholson — is broadcast live Monday through Friday on the CBS Television Network.
The drama, which was launched on April 2, 1956, deals with exciting crime detection work in the fictional city of Monticello. Walter Greaza appears as Winston Grimsley, the role he created in 1956.
Henry Slesar is the writer of the series, and Allan Firstoe and John Sedwich are the directors.

Former Mobster

BRODERICK CRAWFORD stars as a retired mobster who donates a valuable 100-year-old religious cross to the Mother Church in Los Angeles. When it is stolen, Banacek (George Peppard) is called to investigate in "No Sign Of The Cross" on the NBC Wednesday Night Mystery Movie in color.

Two Jerome Women Win Coveted Pilot Licenses

By O. A. (Gus) KELKER
Editor, Times-News

The highest level general aviation (private flying) license is the commercial ticket — and recently two Jerome women picked theirs up at the Twin Falls City-County Airport.

Joy Waite and Carol Cooke passed rigid exams administered by a representative of the Federal Aviation Administration and, as a result, are two of only four women in Magic Valley to obtain their commercial rating or license.

Between them they have 14 years as pilots and also between them they have logged 930 hours in the air. Both own airplanes based at the Jerome Airport. Most of their ground school in preparation for the written tests in connection with the license was taken at the College of Southern Idaho and most of their flight instruction was under the direction of Phyllis Sullivan, who instructs at Jerome and who is one of the four women in the Valley with commercial licenses.

Before taking the commercial tests, both women had previously held private pilot licenses, one step below the commercial rating. Mrs. Waite, the wife of Dick Waite, received her private license in 1963 while Mrs. Cooke, wife of E. V. Cooke, earned hers in 1970.

Both women are "mothers" in families enjoying life in the "wild blue." Dick Waite has had his private license since 1945 and their three children — Marilyn, 18; David, 16 and Bz, 12 — are capable of handling an airborne plane. Vince Cooke started flying while in the service 20 years ago and will finish requirements for his license in the near future. A son wants to learn and will.

Right now Mrs. Waite is planning for an instrument rating — which takes lots of doing — and Mrs. Cooke is looking forward to receiving a flight instructor rating and also an instrument ticket.

When upgrading a flight license, the number on the previous ticket goes right along. Mrs. Waite has number 1592420 and Mrs. Cooke, 2036046.

Stepping from a private to a commercial ticket is no small task. For instance, in addition to being schooled in such things as navigation, weather study, radio operation — and being able to pass a FAA physical given by a registered physician — various flight maneuvers must also be performed with the examiner as a "passenger."

For the commercial license, among other things, the two women were required to perform line inspections on their airplanes, explain pre-flight operations, execute takeoffs and landings including crosswind operations, slips to a landing, shortfield takeoff procedure, soft field takeoff and landing, complete stall landings, at least three accuracy landings within 200 feet of a spot on the runway, emergency operation of airplane equipment, precision maneuvers including gliding spirals, shallow on-pylon eights, steep on-pylon eights, steep and shallow power turns, lazy eights, chandelles, maneuvering with a minimum of airspeed and stalls from all normal-flight attitudes.

And, in addition, they must have had a specified number of hours of cross country flying both night and day, and able to control a plane with reference to instruments only.

The FAA examiner, at conclusion of the oral and flight tests, said both women "really did fine."

And how did the women feel about it. Both said they could hardly wait to get into the air again.

Mrs. Waite in her Cessna 185 four-passenger plane and Mrs. Cooke in her Cessna 150, two-passenger plane.

And like the examiner told this Times-News writer at the end of the tests:

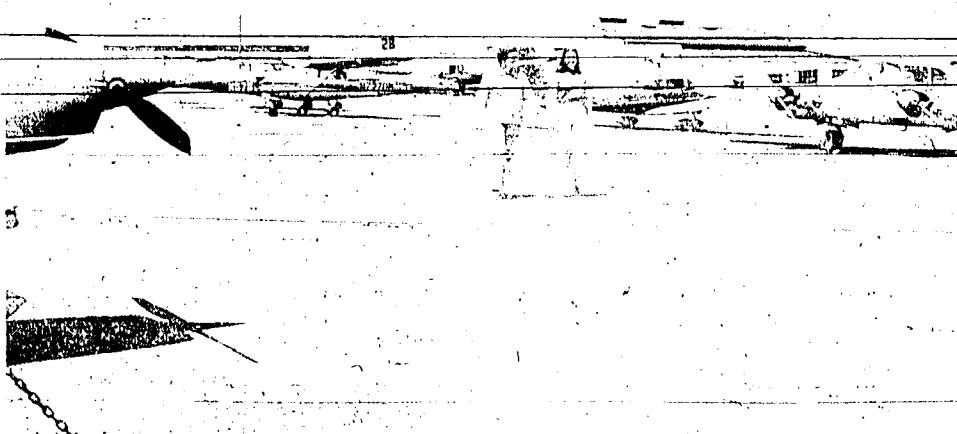

"If auto drivers were required to be as proficient and knowledgeable as pilots, there would not be many autos on the highway."

Two Jerome Women Pass Commercial Flying Tests

JOY WAITE, left, and Carol Cooke, both of Jerome, successfully passed their commercial license flight tests at the Twin Falls City-County Airport. They are two of only four women holding a commercial flying license in Magic Valley. Between them they have been flying 14 years. The tests were given by a Federal Aviation Administration check pilot.

The Bum's Rush

REDD FOXX (right) uses a pleasant but effective way to get rid of a bum (Liam Dunn) who invaded his property and made himself at home, in the repeat episode "A Guest In The Yard" on NBC-TV's "Sanford and Son" Friday evening.

Roberta Flack in first special Tuesday, June 19

Roberta Flack, 1972 Grammy Award winner, will be spotlighted in her first network television special, "The First Time Ever . . . Roberta Flack," to be presented on the ABC Television Network Tuesday, June 19, it was announced today by Edward T. Vane, Vice President, National Program Director, ABC-Entertainment.

The singing star whose stylistic range encompasses rock and roll, jazz and pop music and appeals equally to black and white and to young and mature audiences, will be showcased in a variety of locales.

She will perform in-concert, in an auditorium in the Los Angeles area, then as she strolls along beautiful Paradise Cove in Malibu Beach (Calif.) and in a production number, with dancers, on a set representing a big city rooftop, with sooty chimneys and flapping clotheslines, among other locations.

Her song numbers on the special, hits from her latest album, will include her Grammy Award-winning "Killing Me Softly," described by one record company executive as "the biggest record in pop musical history." "Where Is the Love?"

TV Tinderbox

(answers to questions on page 6)

Okay, let's check your Box Score.

1. NO. Although Luisa Mattioli is Moore's second wife, they have two children (soon three) and he says, "I have a married man's mind. I get nervous without the security of my family."

2. NO. The rumor started because Sally said something like, "I'm wildly in love with him." Sally loves a lot of men at a distance, but if they get close enough, she runs the other way.

3. YES. Bronson has been in some 100 films.

4. YES. Joan and Liz were both married to Mike Todd.

5. NO. But Karen is one of the lesser lights in the Farrow-Redford flick "The Great Gatsby", so who knows?

6. YES. Julie Segal is played by Lee Warrick, a commercial veteran.

7. YES. But says Liza, "I've only thought of myself as like her in the sense that I was a bit on the lonely side. I was never as nuts as she was."

8. YES. Burt was married to one time "Laugh-in" sock-it-to-me sweetheart Judy Carne.

9. NO. Mickey may have been mentioned as a possibility with many others, but he was never offered the part.

10. NO. Jane Fonda has become an incredible bore.

11. NO. Says Gene, "I didn't ask for any of this — as nice as some of it may be — and it sure isn't going to encourage my retirement. I'm just warmed up."

12. YES. Dino is married. He and his wife have two kids by birth, two more adopted. But you're right, they're trying to adopt one more!

13. NO. Mae doesn't smoke or drink. "I have only once vice," she says.

14. NO. James Whitmore was educated at prestigious Choate and Yale.

15. YES. David and Meredith, with no marriage in reality and now none in make-believe, have little anchorage to fight the new cancellation drift.

We return you to the Box. Look happy.

Turning Back The Clocks

TURN BACK THE CLOCKS

BOX: Fifteen years ago ... Mike Wallace was interviewing Adlai Stevenson ... Garry Moore, Arthur Godfrey and Art Linkletter had popular daytime variety shows ... Florence Henderson and Bill Hayes starred on "The U.S. Steel Hour" ... Most of the soap operas were on CBS and were only fifteen minutes in length. NBC was trying to get into the field with "Kitty Foyle" and "Modern Romances" ... Virgil Atkins fought Vince Martinez for the World Welterweight Championship ... Popular rerun series were "Stu Erwin", "Susie", "Our Miss Brooks", "Beulah" and "My Little Margie" ... The Late Show was Humphrey Bogart and Bette Davis in "The Petrified Forest".

SOAP BOX: From Nancy Pinkerton, Dr. Dorian Cramer on "One Life to Live": "There was a time - when I was making my Broadway debut - that I thought of acting as walking the plank. Now I know it's no different from life itself. You have to be willing to make a fool of yourself, or you can never begin to live ... or act." MUSIC BOX: One of the "Midnight Special's" most enjoyable guests was Sydney Jordan. Born in Longview, Texas, the performer-composer grew up in Southern California and began acting at 4, started singing at 13 and composing soon after. While writing some 300 songs, Sydney did not neglect acting (appearing in shows from the original "Peyton Place" series to "Banacek") or performing (singing on shows from Andy Williams' to Sonny and Cher's). But to us, what's the most smashing thing of all about Sydney is that she's a lovely lady.

INSIDE THE BOX WORKS: This Fall, NBC finally introduces "Tomorrow", the companion show for "Today" and "Tonight" which they have been talking about for many years now. The program will follow Johnny Carson, and the talk-show will be Tom Snyder, a Los Angeles TV reporter. What has so long held NBC back on the "Tomorrow" experiment is the fact that they know it will draw much flak from companies and organizations complaining the show causes people to stay up too long, get to work half-asleep or late do a poor job, etc. Even housewives will write-in, complaining about the temptation. Knowing this, why has NBC finally decided to take the plunge? For precisely the reason we predicted it several months ago: the impressive audiences rolled up by those "Midnight Specials". If "Tomorrow" can draw audiences that large, NBC figures the extra advertising revenue will be well worth the gamble of flying through all that flak.

PRESS BOX: CBS News Chief Richard Salant is getting twin barrels of criticism for "hurting freedom of the press." The first blast comes from Senators Mansfield and Scott who claim a "60 Minutes" episode offered its own brand of "McCarthyism" by labeling certain U.S. Senators as lightweight, waterboys and logrollers. The next blast comes, believe it or not, from fellow CBS-exec Frank Smith (Sales) who suggests to Salant that the CBS advertising documentary "You And The Commercial" was totally uncalled for since "without advertising the communications media would never have reached their present level of growth." After blasts like that, they may start calling the Chief "Silent Salant."

BOX YOCKS: Foster Brooks was kind enough to film a series of promotional announcements for WNED-Buffalo's annual auction. But Foster played the drunk character he does on "The Bill Cosby Show", and too many viewers thought he was stoned. "You can't fool me," said an irate woman caller. "That man is really drunk. And he's obscene." So the station dropped the spots, but in a way it was a tribute to Foster's acting. The poor guy hasn't touched a drop in nine years!

Julie Harris Debuts In Initial Series

Julie Harris, one of the nation's most distinguished actresses, who has won Emmys for her portrayals in two memorable television dramas,
"Little Moon of Alban" (1958-59) and "Victoria Regina" (1961-62), debuts this June in her first television series, the ABC Television Network's "Thicker Than Water," on irreverent comedy program based on a British television hit series, "Nearest and Dearest."
Miss Harris, who collected her fourth Tony Award this past season for her sensitive portrayal of Mary Todd Lincoln, in "The Last of Mrs.
Lincoln," has played numerous comedy roles during her illustrious career. "But comedy must be very real," she points out, "or it is not funny." She cites Chaplin, the Marx Brothers, W. C. Fields and Lucille Ball as comedic giants whose application of that principle she admires most. Born in Grosse Points Park, Mich., Julie, along with her brothers William and Richard, was introduced by her parents to the joys of theater-going at an early age.
After graduation from the fashionable Miss Hewitt's School in New York City she went to Yale Drama School.
Midway through her first year, she read for a role in a Broadway production, "It's a Gift," a comedy, and got the part. She asked her teacher what to do. "You'll learn a lot of acting on Broadway," he advised. She took a leave of absence but was back at Yale in six weeks — which was the short-lived run of the play.

"The experience was invaluable, though," Miss Harris recalls.

It was in the role of a lonely 12-year-old in "Member of the Wedding" that Miss Harris first attained fame, winning both the New York Drama
Critics Circle and Donaldson Awards for her portrayal. A succession of roles followed, each different and each memorable — the bohemian Sally Boyles in "I Am a Camera" (for which she won a Tony Award), the title role in "Mademoiselle Colombe," and Joan of Arc in "The Lark." Her performance in the latter won her five top acting awards, including a Tony, and prompted Smith College to bestow upon her an honorary Master of Arts degree.

In her next plays, Miss Harris displayed an even wider range. "The Country Wife,"
"The Warm Peninsula,"
"Little Moon of Alban," "A Shot in the Dark," "Marathon
'33," "Ready-When-You-Are-
C.B.," and the musical "Skyscraper." She has also won laurels as Juliet at the Stratford, Ontario, Shakespeare Festival and in the New York Shakespeare Festival's "Hamlet."

The Green Thumb: Figs Are A Show

By GEORGE ABRAHAM
VERSATILE FIGS: When it comes to house plants, you'll find that the group we call figs (Ficus) is one of the best for those who don't have a green thumb and still want a show. Here are a few figs worth growing in your home:

RUBBER PLANT: This indestructible plant (Ficus elastica) has been around for a long time. It likes semi-shade, a bath in warm water (wash the leaves) and good drainage. Too much water will cause leaves to yellow, or black spots to develop on edges. A newer "rubber" plant is Ficus elastica decora, has larger leaves and foliage more oval-shaped. Leaves glossy green and vein on underside is red. As a new leaf unfolds, you see a bronzy color. Even more colorful is Ficus elastica doescheri, having foliage marked with areas of creamy white with pink midribs. As a general rule, the brighter colored varieties take a bit more care than the all-green variety, because of lower foodmaking ability. None like to have wet feet.

FIDDLE LEAF FIG: Catalogs list it as Ficus lyrata, or F. Pandurata, but common name of fiddle leaf fig is common. Leaf is shaped like a fiddle, hence the name. Give it plenty of space. Sensitive to dry soil and to a watersoaked one, followed by dropping of leaves. No edible fruit.

WEeping FIG: Has drooping, spreading branches this weeping fig is listed as Ficus benjamina. Leaves are shiny, slender, 5 to 6 inches long. Likes filtered light. Does not like a dry soil or soggy one.

MISTLETOE FIG: Leaves are round, non-glossy and similar to mistletoe. Grows 2 feet high and reliable.

TRAILING FIGS: Ficus pumila (reopens) is small-leaved, heart-shaped. Ideal for totem poles in pots. F. radicans variegata, has green and white leaves, and is also a trailer.

EDIBLE FIGS: The common fig (Ficus carica) is good for tubs. Will lose its leaves in winter. Some people leave them outdoors all winter, burying them with leaves.

General culture: All figs do well in a soil having 1 part each of sand, peat and loam. Every three months feed some liquid plant food.

PACHYSANDRA BLIGHT: Do leaves on your pachysandra (Japanese Spurge) turn brown and spread like wild fire? It's leaf spot and Volutella light. Spray plants with maneb or zineb (2 tablespoons per gallon). Repeat 2 or 3 times at 14 day intervals. Thinning out thick beds to improve air circulation helps. Also, pull up infected plants and burn.

MINI GARDENS AGAIN: A reader writes: "Last year we grew 'mini-corn' in our small backyard. It was delicious. Only problem was that one person could eat a dozen ears without even trying. Still we recommend your readers grow some dwarf corn. We grew it in tubs."

Glad you liked the mini-corn. Golden Midget is a hybrid corn, maturing in 58 days. Ears are about 4" long and 1" across with 8 rows of golden yellow, juicy kernels. Plants grow 3' tall and usually produce two ears or more.

We've had readers tell us they grow it in tubs in their hobby greenhouse. It takes little space, matures early and has maxi-quality in spite of its tiny ears. Corn likes a well drained soil (one part each of sand, peat and loam). Plant seed in rows, or in "hills." Thin your plants to 6" apart and keep them watered.

Mini-gardening is an ideal solution for those weekend gardeners who live in a city, apartment house or other areas where limited space prevents them from enjoying home grown vegetables. Grow plants in whatever container are available: ten-inch pots, galvanized pails, laundry baskets, wastepaper baskets, small wheelbarrows, wooden crates, bushel baskets, barrel halves etc. If you have a hobby greenhouse, mini-gardening can even be more practical.

BIRDS OUT OF CHERRY TREES: A reader tells us she keeps birds out of cherry trees by using black sewing thread, lobbed at random over and around the tree. Two people lob the spool back and forth over and around the outside of the tree. Contact with the thread by their wings confuses and frightens the birds away.

QUESTION BOX
QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. E. of Burley: "We want to grow some dill in pots and wonder if there is a dwarf variety. Can it be grown in our greenhouse?"

Yes, dill is easy to grow. A variety known as Bouquet is shorter, and stands more erect than the common varieties of dill. Dill likes a soil that's well drained — 1 part each of sand, peat and loam. Grow it in your garden, on patio or in a greenhouse. Sow seed 2 or 3 per inch, and thin them out to 1 per inch. The thinnings can be used to add flavor to salads or soups. Many eat dill foliage (called dill "weed"), and some even use the stalk to flavor vinegar or pickles, although the ripe flower heads (called umbels) are placed in the jar. Best flavor comes from the flower head just before it blossoms out. Seeds can be harvested when ripe but still green.

This aromatic herb gets its name from old English — "to dull", that is, "to sooth or allay". People who are prone to burp say that dill helps their digestive process, making potatoes and spaghetti "lighter", prevents gastric disturbances. We understand that dill syrup was once fed to babies to induce sleep. Dill is an herb with many uses — sauerkraut, fish, cabbage, pickled cauliflower. By all means, grow some of this necessary herb.

N. F. of Sun Valley: "I've been in all flower shops looking for a plant called 'Joseph's Coat' but nobody ever heard of it. Please tell us where we can get it."

Joseph's Coat is known as Amaranth or "Love-Lies-Bleeding" a striking annual. The Amaranth family has showy characters, all closely allied to the pigweed and celosia. Their ornamental leaves in many bright colors, makes the plants ideal for summer bedding. They reach 3 to 4 feet tall, for background planting, and there are dwarf varieties for bedding plants. Joseph's coat gets its name from its bronze-green leaves splashed with scarlet and yellow. The variety Molten Fire has variegated deep red foliage. Joseph Coat or Love-Lies-Bleeding are easy to grow from seed sown outdoors. Space each plant 12 to 18 inches apart. They like full sun for best color. Oddly enough, poor soil gives leaves their best color. Soils too rich in nitrogen produce plants not as brilliant. Other common names include: Summer Poinsettia and Rainbow plant. All amaranthus can be dried for winter bouquets. If you want something really different, grow some Amaranthus — whether you call it Joseph's Coat, Love-Lies-Bleeding or just plain Amaranthus. These plants are showy, even though they are in the pigweed family.

Question of the week: R. F. of Twin Falls: "We made ourselves a compost bin and now have questions: Should the material be stirred. Would it have been better if the bin was built a few inches off the ground so air could get in? Should the pile be covered with a plastic sheet or not?"

First, let's congratulate you for making a compost bin. It's the perfect answer to heavy clay soils, or light sandy ones.

Some people build their bins so air can circulate underneath. Most people do not and they have good luck composting.

As for covering with a plastic sheet, we find this is helpful in hastening decomposition by holding moisture inside and by maintaining heat (160 degrees or higher) generated by bacteria and fungi breaking down the materials.

The secret is to keep the compost pile thoroughly dampened. It takes longer for a dry pile to break down than it does a wet one.

Sprinkle your grass clippings, table scraps, potato peelings, orange skins, coffee grounds and tea leaves, etc. Water the top of the dampened pile with a sprinkling of ground limestone to prevent any odor and to lessen the acidity of the compost.

Cement blocks make a fine compost bin. Construction is rugged, durable and inexpensive.

S. E. of Rockland: "This year we want plenty of fresh herbs but don't have much space. What are a few we can grow?"

Herbs take up little space and you can grow them in tubs, boxes, baskets, or any container, on your patio, or in a window. Here are a few to try, in containers or in the garden: Basil, has sweet flavor, used fresh or dried. Be sure to grow dark opal, noted for its glossy, deep purple-bronze foliage.

Borage, grows 18 inches high, young leaves used for salads or to flavor cool drinks. Chives: Onion-like flavor ideal in soups, sauces, and omelets. A clump in a pot in the kitchen is handy. Oregano, also called "pot marjoram" can be grown in among your overgreens or foundation planting.
